Success Is Assured For Drive To End Employment

SUPPORT IS PLEGGED BY THOUSANDS

Government Printing Office Rushing Copies of Voluntary Agreements

TELEGRAMS POUR IN

Administrator Johnson in Statement Says Nothing Can Hamper Drive

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(UP)—The drive to end unemployment advanced today on a mounting tide of national support so great that recovery administrator Hugh Johnson confidently declared victory was assured.

"The country is at least aroused," Johnson said. "It is an irresistible march. Nothing will ever hamper the president's program."

The government printing office, working three shifts, was rushing to all parts of the nation millions of copies of the voluntary agreements which all employers are asked to sign. Within the next day or two they will be placed in the hands of every businessman.

Thousands of telegrams continued to pile up here, pledging abstinence by these agreements, fixing a 35-hour week and minimum wage of 40 cents an hour for industrial labor and a 40-hour week and $12-$15 minimum for office and store employees.

"They still are pouring in," Johnson said in an address, "and they present a cross section of employers, great and small, so thorough as of itself to insure success. The power of this people once aroused and united in a fixed purpose is the most irresistible force in the world."

Controversies Raged

Controversies continued to rage in conferences over the codes for the oil and lumber industries. Johnson, tireless former army general, continued to exert pressure for quick agreements.

He was faced also with demands that he intercede to avert further difficulties between capital and labor in the textile, steel and bituminous coal industries.

The labor advisory board has received hundreds of complaints of action against union employees in a variety of industries. The complaints fall into two groups:

1. Alleged widespread discharges in the cotton textile industry, now operating under a code of fair competition.

2. Charges that many union men are being discharged from the coal and steel industries, and in many cases are being evicted from their homes.

For the first group the advisory board is counseling slow action on the theory that a revolutionary change such as the textile code will require some time to become really effective. For the second group the advisory board is urging that Johnson take immediate action.

Complaints Filed

Complaints before the labor board declare that steel and coal employers, not yet under codes, are preparing for company union systems by discharging workers who belong to outside unions, notably those of the American Federation of Labor.

The board believes Johnson has authority to stop such action without waiting for the industries to come under specific codes. Members declare that Johnson can inform these employers that they can-

Carrie Nation Emulated By Kansas Man

KANSAS CITY, Kan., July 26.—(UP)—Carrie Nation, whose bar smashing lent vivid color to a by-gone era, has a follower in Arthur Darby, sought today for hammering out windows of Kansas beer stores.

The militant and independent spirit of the anti-liquor man stood him in good stead when police went to arrest him.

"I live outside the city limits," he shouted to them. "You can't arrest me."

Darby's soul revolted when he saw "beer-on-tap" signs on a store window. He went to a nearby bakery, borrowed a hammer and returned and shattered windows.

Overcast skies failed to stop the enthusiasm of thousands who strained against the 1200 policemen stationed along the line of march. At the Battery, starting point of the parade, the crowds began forming hours early and fully 80,000 persons were on hand when Post arrived.

Mrs. Post, beaming proudly rode in the second car and in the third were the famous transatlantic flyers Clarence Chamberlin and Roger C. Williams.

The city hall ceremonial was brief but impressive. Mayor John P. O'Brien recalled the tortuous world circumnavigation of Magellan and Drake and explained:

"And yet, Wiley Post, you have girdled the globe in only a few hours more than a week. How fast the world moves—and how fast you moved around the world."

Then he presented the Oklahoma man with the medal of valor—the second he has received from the city. His first was awarded when he returned from an around-the-world flight with Harold Gatty.

Frank J. Cannon Dies After Operation in Hospital in Colorado

DENVER, Colo., July 26.—(UP)—Frank J. Cannon, 73-year-old champion of "work and wages" which he maintained throughout an active 40-year campaign depended upon free coinage of silver, was dead here today.

Cannon, first United States senator from the state of Utah, died last night at Presbyterian hospital here of an infection after an operation which usually would not be regarded as serious.

Plans were made to send the body today to Ogden, Utah, for burial.

Cannon is survived by his widow, Mary, a sister of his first wife who died in 1908, and by two daughters. A son by the first marriage died in Honolulu recently.

Cannon was born in Salt Lake City, Utah, on Jan. 25, 1859. His father, George Q. Cannon, was first counselor of the Mormon church for 1880 to 1901, aide to Brigham Young.

Frank Cannon waged relentless warfare upon polygamy in the Mormon church, in which he was born, of one of his father's five wives. He broke away from the Mormon church and became a Presbyterian.

He was one of the first advocates of bi-metalism and at his death was president of the Bi-Metallic association and vice president of the National Remonetization league.

He started his political career in 1895 when Utah was admitted to the union by defeating his father for the United States senatorship. The elder Cannon had been named without his consent by Mormon factions as the only man in the state who could stop his son.

BANK LOSES SUIT AGAINST RANCHER

SANTA ROSA, Calif., July 26.—(UP)—The Rev. James L. Case had won a third and decisive point today in his fight to prevent foreclosure of a trust deed on his Forestville ranch.

Superior Judge Billard Comstock, who previously granted a permanent injunction against foreclosure proceedings of a Sebastopol bank, late yesterday denied the bank's petition for a receivership on the Case ranch.

Extreme wariness in the loaning of money on farm security was indicated in Sonoma county today as a result of the court actions.

BALBO'S FLIERS AT ANCHOR

SHOAL HARBOR, NFD, July 26.—(UP)—Gen. Balbo's Italian air squadron, en route across the ocean to Italy after its epic flight to Chicago, landed here today.

The first section of eleven planes came down at 12:35 p. m. E. D. T.

The flight of approximately 515 miles from Shedd, N. B., was made without mishap except for the forced landing of one plane, the I-Rovi, on Prince Edward Island.

Tribute Is Paid Flier In New York

Wiley Post Receives Formal Recognition and is Awarded Medal

NEW YORK, July 26.—(UP)—For the second time in two years, Wiley Post rode through the streets of lower New York today, to receive the city's formal recognition for an around-the-world flight, while thousands of office workers massed on the sidewalks and jammed the windows of skyscrapers to pay him tribute.

Overcast skies failed to stop the enthusiasm of thousands who strained against the 1200 policemen stationed along the line of march. At the Battery, starting point of the parade, the crowds began forming hours early and fully 80,000 persons were on hand when Post arrived.

Mrs. Post, beaming proudly rode in the second car and in the third were the famous transatlantic flyers Clarence Chamberlin and Roger C. Williams.

Chagrined Because Process Server Not Present as She Leaves Boat

BALTIMORE, Md., July 26.—(UP)—Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton arrived in Baltimore from Paris today aboard the liner City of Havre vastly disappointed because there was no process server at the dock to hand her a subpoena in her husband's divorce suit.

Clad in a black satin dress which her "Four Square Gospel" followers in Los Angeles had sent her, Sister Aimee dined for perhaps 30 minutes on the deck of the liner waiting for an officer to bring papers in the divorce suit which David ("Strongman") Hutton has filed. She said she wanted the summons so she could file a cross-suit charging mental cruelty.

Prepared Speech

Mrs. Hutton was prepared to receive the officer cordially. She had a little speech ready for him. When he didn't arrive she sighed: "The strong man must have forgot."

Mrs. Hutton was rested and vigorous with her straw-colored hair expertly curled by the ship's old barber who brought his curling iron, his scissors and his comb into Mrs. Hutton's cabin where she received him in a pale blue negligee.

She said she still was in a "haze" over her ravens-black hair and her husband's action.

"I always thought of the strong man as being clean and wholesome," she said. "There is only one thing I can think of and that may be money."

CHARGE VANDEGRIFT BUILT UP SYSTEM

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 26.—(UP)—Charges that Roland A. Vandegrift, state director of finance, used the state civil service system to build up a "vicious spoils system" today marked the latest chapter of the feud between the state board of equalization and the department of finance.

The charge was voiced by Richard E. Collins, chairman of the equalization board, after Vandegrift had urged the legislature to take administrators of new taxes from the control of the board and place them under civil service.

This action by Vandegrift was termed "an attempt to secure additional political spoils at the expense of the taxpayer."

DRYS IN MISSOURI APPEAL TO COURT

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., (UP)—Missouri dries, attempting to halt Missouri's vote on national prohibition repeal and stop the brewing of 3.2 beer, took their fight to the state supreme court today.

P. A. Tate, St. Louis, superintendent of the Missouri Anti-Saloon League, filed applications for writs of mandamus with the high tribunal, seeking to force Secretary of State Dwight H. Brown to accept his $100,000 referendum petition from the Weeks repeal election bill and the Brogan-Roberts beer measure.

Hugh Johnson Explains To Employers Of Nation

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(UP)—Here is a simple and authoritative explanation by Recovery Administrator Hugh Johnson of just what every employer is asked to do to put in effect the voluntary agreement which is the basis of President Roosevelt's re-employment campaign:

"You will receive in the mail, about July 27, an envelope with two pieces of paper and an addressed envelope in it. One piece of paper is the president's agreement. Sign that on the dotted lines and fill out the information called for. Put it in the addressed envelope and mail it. Then put it into effect at once."

"On August 1st sign the other piece of paper which says that you have carried out your agreement. Turn it in to your post office. Then you will be given the Blue Eagle of N. R. A. on a poster or window sticker."

"Take this to your store or shop and display it prominently. If you need more posters or stickers you can get them later from a dealer. If you want to use this symbol on your goods or automobiles or trucks or anywhere else in connection with your business, you are authorized to do so. But do not do this either now or later if you have not signed the agreement or do not have it in effect. It can only result in conflict with the president's request and may cause you serious trouble."

"What does all this mean? It means that if you employ any factory or mechanical worker or artisan you will not pay him less than 40 cents an hour or work him more than 35 hours a week, except that if you were paying less than 40 cents for that kind of work on July 15, 1929, you can pay that rate now, but not less than 30 cents an hour."

"As to all other employees—those on a weekly rate—you will pay not less than $15 a week if you live in a city of over 500,000 inhabitants, or $14.50 a week in cities of between 250,000 and 500,000 inhabitants, or $14.00 in cities of between 250,000 and 2,500, and $12 in cities of less than 2,500, and you agree not to work this class of employees more than 40 hours a week."

"As to employees who now get a higher wage, you should not reduce their wages because you reduce their hours and you should generally keep the usual pay differences as between lower and higher paid employees. And after August 31st you will not work children under 16 years of age."

Edwards And Craig Plead With Solons

"Do Pass" Motion Fails of Enactment When Vote on Bill is Tied

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 26.—(UP)—The Craig bill which sought to end to Huntington Beach tide lands for oil drilling purposes, failed to get out of the senate revenue and taxation committee despite the fact it had been previously approved by the assembly.

Assemblyman Ted Craig told the committee oil concerns were draining a vast oil pool under the Huntington Beach tide lands. The tide, current legislation argued the state was losing a great asset by its "do nothing" policy.

The bill proposed the state would get 50 per cent of oil royalties derived from development of the tide lands oil pool; Orange county, 25 per cent and Huntington Beach 25 per cent.

Senator Edgar Stow, Santa Barbara, led the fight against the bill on the principle that "our beaches must not be ruined." Sen. Nelson T. Edwards, Orange county, accused Stow of "sour grapes."

Craig contended the royalties would net the state $355,000 annually.

"It is a fair measure," he declared. "Just remember this: the oil pool is being drained right now by the adjoining companies, including the Standard Oil company and others."

The proposition had been twice voted down by the electorate and for that reason, more than any other, the committee was moved to reject Craig's measure. A "do pass" motion failed of enactment when the vote was tied. The same vote killed a motion to pass the bill without recommendation.

Craig said he would attempt to withdraw the bill from committee by a senate majority vote.

Increase In Beer Tax Is Approved

SACRAMENTO, Calif., July 26.—(UP)—Approval of an increase of the beer tax from 62 cents to $1 per barrel was granted today by the senate committee on revenue and taxation.

The committee sent the measure out onto the floor with a recommendation of "do pass."

The measure was introduced by Senator John McColl. If passed, it will bring approximately $800,000 a biennium in additional revenue.

The Woolwine bill providing a tax on beer, wine and hard liquor and producing a total income of $6,000,000 was killed in assembly committee.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, July 26. (To the Editor of The Register.) Coming from Frisco to Los Angeles with Roscoe Turner is no more of a trip than going from the observation car to the diner. I found a lot of good grass, feed and water and I turned my governors out for a few days to give their feet and voices a rest. I rushed down here to try and settle the movie strike before they get here, as all of 'em want to see the "gals" working.

Here is the best one I have seen yet, a Hollywood film extra suing her husband for divorce, claimed it on the grounds that "her husband accused her of being the cause of all the depression." That will certainly be welcome news to Mr. Hoover to know there is somebody blamed for all the world's depression besides him.

Yours,

WILL ROGERS.

APPROPRIATION IS ASKED IN ASSEMBLY

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 26.—(UP)—Appropriation of $1000 to assist in the search for kidnapped Helen Lyons, 14-year-old Sacramento girl, was asked of the state legislature today.

At the suggestion of Clarence Morrill, chief of the bureau of criminal identification, Senator David Bush offered a measure raising that amount.

The bill provides $250 should be a reward for information leading to the capture of the abductor; $250 for information of the whereabouts of the Lyons girl; and $500 for circularizing the nation.

The Lyons girl was abducted in Merced weeks ago. The child's father appealed to Governor Rolph for assistance. The executive promptly ordered all state law enforcement agencies to assist in the search.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 26.—(UP)—Stocks drifted about in a dull session today and ended irregular in a narrow range.

There were several periods of strength in the curtailed session. Trading is now and will be until 11 a. m. to 2 p. m.—but none brought out sufficient buying to keep a rally moving.

Strength in grains tended to aid the cotton market where prices firm. Up from an early decline, but apparently had no effect on stocks. A firmer dollar might have been a deterrent to long commitments, but of more importance was the fear that a considerable amount of stock still was overhanging the market as a result of the grain market mixup in the west.

Then, too, business news showed a leveling off in several lines. The Iron Age found steel production at 57 per cent, against 58 per cent a week ago, while electricity output up 15.4 per cent from the 1922 week made a poorer showing than the preceding week which showed a percentage gain of 16.4 per cent. Car loadings already have turned down, and some of the railroad earnings reports are poor.

not hope to profit by any such procedure, that any temporary advantage they might gain will be taken away when they came under their own codes.

Johnson promised that difficulties in interpreting and applying the general voluntary agreement for all industries would be cleared up as quickly as possible. He emphasized that "nobody needs any special fixer to get anything from the president's recovery administration. This administration is not going to 'go red tape.' Any man can get a hearing and can say what he has to say, in his own words, in his own way, and if he does that he will get what every body else gets—a square deal."

CLAIMS HUSBAND REFUSED TO WORK

Alleging that her husband, Willis Roy Booher, had refused to work since their marriage and had remained at home during the day and gone out nights, Mrs. Velma Lavern Booher, today filed suit for divorce, custody of the couple's child and $25 monthly for its support.

She also accused her husband of associating with other women, going to places of amusement and with being frequently intoxicated. When she remonstrated with him, according to her complaint, Booher is alleged to have told her that what he did was none of her business and that she was at home to take care of the child.

On July 19, last, according to her complaint, her husband persuaded her to go to a dance with her sister. While she was gone, she charges that Booher took their child to the home of his parents and since that time has refused to permit her to see the baby.

Guests Are Greeted For Bridge Club Luncheon

Samadhi Bridge club members held one of their pleasant sessions Monday when they were luncheon guests of Mrs. Kenneth Bell in her home, 1701 North Ross street. Various flowers were used in enhancing the charm of the home, but for her luncheon table, Mrs. Bell attained a strikingly artistic effect by using sprays of fuchsias, whose brilliant bells drooped gracefully from among their waxen leaves. Covers were laid for the hostess, Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Theo J. Bose, Mrs. R. O. Grover, Mrs. Jess Miller, Mrs. Bernard Snow, Mrs. Gilbert Brown and Mrs. Harold Eley.

In the afternoon bridge contest, Mrs. Miller, scoring high, and Mrs. Eley, low, received attractive prizes.

Shiloh Circle

Members of Shiloh Circle Ladies of the G. A. R. held a friendly session Friday afternoon in Pythian hall, such as they share at their second meeting each month when business matters are lapsed in favor of a social gathering.

Mrs. Estelle Gray, program chairman, started the program with the singing of "America" in which joined all those present, including Sedgwick Post G. A. R. comrades and Shiloh Circle members to the number of 17.

Mrs. Sarah Brown followed this with a reading, Mrs. Kate Johnson gave another reading, "The Dear Old Flag We Love," and a third was presented by Mrs. Edith Knesel.

The remaining afternoon hours were given over to needlework, and before disbanding, members and guests enjoyed the appetizing refreshments served by the president, Mrs. Sarah Alford and her staff.

Spanish Cabrillos will serve you at Green Cat Cafe tonight—Adv.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

BY VERA RAMSEY

How can we deal with the present and the future if we do not understand what happened in 1929 and what has happened since? "The Years of the Locust," by Gilbert Seldes, is a fever chart of the depression, not in terms of stock prices or car loadings, but in the human terms of what people thought, said, felt, did and believed in the past few years. It includes a running story of the stock market crash and all that followed. Parallel to this it traces the ups and downs of public emotion and thought, showing how we awoke a year after the crash to the realization that, contrary to repeated assurances of national leaders, something serious had happened to us.

From miniature golf to the surrender of the intellectuals, from Mr. Coolidge's column to the apple vendor on the street corner, from congress to the farms of the middle west, the story ranges. It covers high pressure salesmanship and reduces inflation to understandable terms. It unearths the hidden joker in the deal agitation, listing the impressive faiths which America abandoned and those to which she still clings. The cry for a dictator is connected with the index of commodities and the rout of the bonus army with the psychological difficulties of Mr. Hoover.

Mr. Seldes' book is first, a record as full of human interest as "Our Times" and "Only Yesterday." It is, secondly, an interpretation of this period as thought-provoking as books like "Recovery" and "A New Deal." It is timely, it is important. It offers no cure-all and it has its lighter side. The depression has had its amusing incidents although many of them were not so intended. For the most part the volume is serious, but with the absorbing interest of anything that touches a man's life and his pocket-book. Brought up in a Quaker household in the Grapton hills of Pennsylvania, China dominated Nora Wain's imagination. This was stimulated by century-old records of her family's trade with the Lin family of Hope and Canton. Amber and alum root, cinnamon and chinaware, embroidered fans and lily flowers—this was the stuff upon which her adolescent fancy fed. Gradually her library grew to contain a row of Chinese histories and dictionaries. She became familiar with the philosophies of Lao-Tzu, Mencius, and Mo-ti. She committed to memory analects from Confucius.

Yet she had never seen a Chinese when an undergraduate at Swarthmore, she met a husband and wife of the House of Lin on a tour of the Western world. Thus she began the contact which resulted in her visiting them in the homestead occupied by the family for 36 generations, where she was formally made an adopted daughter of the family. Her book,

"The House of Exile," was a result of this intimate contact.

Like Gertrude Bell of Arabia, Nora Wain has that singular capacity of placing herself in sympathetic communion with the people of a foreign race. As an adopted daughter of a Chinese aristocracy, she writes with brilliant accuracy on the feast days and the food, the ancestor worship and the pageants, the elements and amenities of Chinese life. Later she tells of her romantic marriage to an English official stationed in China and of her hazardous life during the days of hatred and revolution.

"British Agent," by R. H. Bruce

Lockhart, is the personal story of the rise and fall of a brilliant young Scotch diplomat. He spent five years at a public school in the "worship of athleticism." To counteract this fetish, he was sent to Berlin and Paris rather than to Cambridge to complete his education.

At the age of 27 Bruce Lockhart became British consul-general at Moscow. In 1918, Lloyd George selected him to head the British mission to Soviet Russia. No foreigner new and understood the turbulent scene in the Bolshevik days of Trotsky and Lenin better than he. It was a knowledge which cost him his career. It almost cost him his life. After years of strenuous experience, including a term in prison, he returned to England, but he was tried by the Bolsheviks and sentenced to death. His narrative tells of Lenin and Trotsky at first hand. It is as if a British representative had been in Paris during the French revolution in daily contact with Robespierre and Danton.

This account rises far above the usual tepid diplomatic memoirs by the quality of its style and by the drama of its content. It is a candid autobiography which includes a fascinating account of early adventures in Malaya before the time when Lockhart became a central figure in world events. No diplomatist, with the possible exception of Harold Nicholson, has written with greater literary skill.

Other new books in the library are:

Anderson, Maxwell—"Both Your Houses."

Brown, Charles A.—"Have We Outgrown Religion?"

Dale, Barbara—"Health, Beauty and Charm."

Eddy, Sherwood—"The Challenge of Europe."

Fels, Samuel S.—"This Changing World."

Jacks, L. P.—"My American Friends."

Kawakami, K. K.—"Manchoukuo: Child of Conflict."

Miller, Max—"He Went Away Rintelen, Captain von—The for Awhille."

Man Bound Over For Trial After Girl Testifies

C. G. Lewis, arrested Sunday in Balboa, at his preliminary hearing today was ordered held to answer in the superior court on a charge of impersonating an officer. His bail was set at $1000 in default of which he was returned to the county jail. Lewis' preliminary was held this morning before Judge Leonard, of Newport Beach. Miss Elveda Connolly testified against Lewis this morning and told the court that Lewis had accosted her on the pier at Balboa and told her that she resembled a girl involved in a stabbing affray. Flashing a badge issued to Clay Page by the Los Angeles district attorney's office in 1929, he ordered her to accompany him to the police station for questioning.

According to the girl, Lewis told her that he first wanted to ask her some questions regarding the case and took her to a hotel room where he made improper advances to her. The Connolly girl fled from the hotel and complained to the police.

REPORTS GIVEN AT SESSION OF COUNTY C. OF C.

Reporting that officials of the Federal Farm Loan bank had modified the restrictions on securing loans for Orange county land, O. V. Steward, chairman of the water conservation committee of the Associated Chambers of Commerce, was one of the speakers at the meeting last night at Costa Mesa.

Steward said that the original regulations made loans for Orange county land very hard to secure but that with the new decisions, applications for loans were now being received. The change in attitude was brought about through action by the Southern California Economic council, boards of supervisors and other groups, he said.

A. C. Gregory, representing the Isaac Walton leagues of Orange county, reported that a closed season should be declared for pheasants in Northern Orange county so that the game preserves would be protected. The association went on record to ask the state fish and game commission to set aside a closed season. The preserves are maintained by the clubs in Anaheim and Fullerton.

Another matter that will be taken before the fish and game commission is the sealing of fish off the Orange county coast. It is claimed that outside fishermen are taking large catches of fish by means of nets in violation of the state law prohibiting seining. A report by the tax committee, given by J. A. Knapp, of Garden Grove, recommended that a cost analysis be made of county government but no action was taken by the association pending the

DEPUTY KILLED AS CAR IS AMBUSHED

CHARLESTON, W. Va., July 26.—(UP)—A police car en route to the state penitentiary with a prisoner was ambushed today by four gunmen, who killed one deputy sheriff, wounded another, and captured and slew the prisoner. The bullets which stopped the officers' car shortly after it had left Charleston, killed Deputy Roy Shumlin, and wounded Deputy G. L. Dudley.

TIRE MEN OF ORANGE COUNTY APPROVE CODE

Adopting a code which includes a 40-hour week and a minimum wage scale of $14 per week, members of the Orange County Tire Dealers association met Monday evening at Ketter's cafe.

The new code is one framed by the Los Angeles Tire Dealers' association and is expected to be signed and approved by President Roosevelt within 10 days. Jerry Hall, president of the county group, was in charge of the discussion and gave the highlights of the president's nation-wide radio speech.

R. W. Stratford, secretary manager of the Los Angeles association, outlined the urgent necessity of co-operation and speedy adoption of a code of fair competition as soon as possible. C. V. Irish, secretary of the Rubber club, San Fernando gave a short talk on what his members are doing.

Among the highlights of the new code are no price cutting, no secret rebates, no comments, group buyers be sold at preferred wholesale, manufacturer to make no contracts with large local buyers, no trick advertising which misrepresents, no free goods, no combination deals, and no special sales.

L. Pitts, of Fullerton, was elected to the board of governors. The "Battle of Gettysburg" was an accident in that neither army expected to fight there and neither had any desire to do so.

YOUNG JACKSON IN CLAIM FOR CROWN

PORTLAND, Ore., July 26.—(UP)—Young Peter Jackson, 134 1-2, Los Angeles Negro, claimed the Pacific Coast lightweight championship today after his technical knockout of Ah Wing Lee, Portland Chinese battler, in the fourth round here last night. Harney Senn, hefty ex-fullback of Oregon Normal school, knocked out Hal Moe, ex-Oregon State college fullback. It was Moe's second professional fight.

CONDUCT FINAL SERVICES FOR FR. O'SULLIVAN

Over 1000 persons attended funeral services for Rt. Rev. Msgr. St. John O'Sullivan, who died Sunday at St. Joseph's hospital which were conducted Tuesday at St. Vibiana's Cathedral in Los Angeles. Requiem mass was celebrated by Rt. Rev. John J. Cantwell, bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego, and the eulogy was voiced by Archbishop Hanna of San Francisco. Interment was at Calvary cemetery.

"A holy priest, a great man, a high-minded citizen, a gentleman of the old school has passed to his reward," said Archbishop Hanna. "His inspiration, from boyhood, was the life and mystery of Christ. Humbly, devotedly, unselfishly he walked in the footsteps of his Master. Although a broken man, physically, when he came to Southern California, he built from the ruins of San Juan Capistrano a garden of delight and a sanctuary worthy of the God who ever dwells there. At his feet we lay the tribute of our admiration for his brave battle not only against illness but also in the cause of the Christ he loved."

Woman Appears On Liquor Count

Mrs. William Benton, charged with possession of liquor in connection with an explosion in a house in Orange on July 14 and the finding of a still and cutting plant, appeared before Judge A. C. Swayze yesterday and had her preliminary hearing postponed indefinitely.

Mrs. Jane Sizer, 17-year-old sister of Mrs. Benton, is fighting for her life in Orange County hospital from severe burns received in the blast and is given a slight chance to recover. She suffered first, second and third degree burns over her entire body. Mrs. Benton has been staying in Inglewood since being released on her own recognizance by Judge Swayze. The seven-month-old daughter of Mrs. Sizer has been placed with the county welfare department. Mrs. Benton and the baby disappeared after the explosion and caused an element of mystery until they returned voluntarily. Police are still searching for Bart Jackson, Costa Mesa man, also wanted on possession charges.

Sunstroke Kills Atwood Rancher

John J. Van De Putte, Atwood citrus grower, died this afternoon of sunstroke. Yesterday he was working in his orchard and when he went into the house, after taking a drink of ice water, he collapsed. He was rushed to a Fullerton hospital, where he died today. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Investigation Of Beer Applicants Is Ordered By Board

Working under instructions issued yesterday by the board of supervisors the sheriff's office and district attorney started investigating applicants for beer selling permits in the unincorporated areas of the county. Sale of beer in the county will be permitted on and after August 11.

To date there are 31 applications for beer selling permits. The investigation will be to ascertain whether or not the application has been filed in compliance with the law and that all provisions of the county are complied with. Under the new ordinance permits to sell beer will not be issued for places that are within 300 feet of schools or churches or where the applicant has been convicted of a felony or violation of the liquor laws of the nation, state, county or municipality.

GRAND CENTRAL P. O. STATION READY SOON

A post office contract station will be located in the Grand Central market, it was announced today by Jack Boardman, market manager.

The contract office, which is being installed, is to be located near the center of the market just above Urbine's Meat market off the Sycamore side.

Postmaster T. E. Stephenson has received authorization from Washington to establish the contract station, which will be open from 8 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Postal service to be offered includes sale of stamps and envelopes, money order business, registering mail, receiving parcel post and other mail. All mail left at the station will be picked up by regular postal employees and mail will leave for outside points just as quickly as if left at the main postoffice, it is stated. No mail will be delivered from the contract station to local points.

Three Men Taken To Anaheim Court After Confessions

J. D. Garner and David Garner, Pomona, and W. S. Grigsby, Monterey Park, arrested Sunday night by Officers Sam Snodgrass and Fred Swayze of the Orange County Fruit patrol, made statements this morning confessing to two burglaries involving the theft of 64 chickens, officers said.

Following their confessions the three were taken to Anaheim, where they were to appear before Justice of the Peace Kuechel, waive their preliminary hearing and plead guilty to two counts each of burglary.

The men admitted burglarizing the chicken house of A. W. Reeves, of Wagner road, southeast of Anaheim, where they stole 20 chickens. From the Reeves home they went to the Stevens place at the intersection of North street and Rio Vista streets, where they stole 44 pullets valued at $60.

Snodgrass and Swayze followed the trio for more than an hour and placed them under arrest after watching the men steal the chickens from the Stevens place. Officers of the fruit patrol said that they are confident that, with the arrest of the trio, they have broken up a ring that for several weeks has been looting chicken ranches east of Anaheim.

STORES CLOSED DURING PARADE HERE THURSDAY

Santa Ana stores will be closed during the time of the Fiesta del Oro parade tomorrow, it was announced today by Ivie Stein, chairman of the Merchants' association committee which is working with Fiesta officials in staging the event.

The parade will leave from Fourth street east of Garfield at 1 p. m. tomorrow and will travel down Fourth to Parton, from Parton to Eighth and from there on to the stadium for the grand entry.

The route of the parade has been shortened because many of the horses and stock participating in the parade will be used in the afternoon show and owners did not wish their animals tired out by traveling over a long route in the hot sun, it was announced.

Around 300 entries have been received for the parade, which will consist of covered wagons, stage coaches, chuck wagons, etc., with many mounted entries, novelty features, comical entries, Indians, pioneers, plainsmen, Spaniards, Mexican musicians and other features.

Constable Jess Elliott will be grand marshal of the parade.

20-30 CLUB TOLD OF FIESTA PLANS

The Fiesta del Oro will be one of the outstanding events of its type in California, Dr. James Workman, Santa Ana chiropractor, told members and guests of the Santa Ana Twenty-Three club at the regular meeting in Ketter's cafe last night.

Dr. Workman was introduced as the featured speaker by Paul J. Dale, who was program chairman of the evening. The speaker outlined the various events planned to be presented during the three-day celebration which opens tomorrow.

Dr. Lawrence Cameron, who was in charge of the entertainment, introduced Sol Gonzales and his Spanish troubadours, who played several selections. Gonzales is in charge of the Spanish night music in the Fiesta. Henrietta Armandariz was featured in vocal selections.

President Leroy Burns presided at the meeting.

360-Pound U. S. Prisoner Booked

If all the 18 federal prisoners transferred to the county jail from San Diego yesterday were as big as Frank Labou, a new wing would have to be built on the bastille.

Labou, an Italian barber, tips the scales at just 360 pounds and stands five feet eight in his stockings. To make up for this addition to the jail family, another of the transfers weighed only 110 pounds and was five feet six inches tall. He was Loo Lee Wo, a Chinese laborer.

Police News

G. Villagomez, 25, El Modena laborer, is being held in the county jail for investigation of hit and run driving after being arrested by Constable George Bartley of Orange.

Stephen Reyes, 45, charged with non-support of a minor child, has been booked at the county jail.

EARLY DAYS OF WEST RECALLED BY Y. SPEAKER

Pointing out the fact that less than 100 years ago the area from the Rocky mountains eastward to within a short distance of the Mississippi river was an unexplored wilderness, and that within the past century this same territory has become a populous and prosperous empire, Robert Speed, speaking last night at the Y. M. C. A., traced the paths by which men gained access to this vast territory, and depicted some of the colorful incidents connected with the work of the pioneers.

A carefully prepared map served to indicate the channels of travel by which the assault was made on the wilderness. Beginning with the old Santa Fe trail, Speed recounted the hardships of the overland route, some sections of which required days to proceed from one water supply to the next. The freight routes leading back from California into the hinterlands were followed, one of the earliest being the route from Los Angeles through San Bernardino. The latter city, in pioneer days, said Speed, was a larger and more important town than Los Angeles, and was famous as a trading post and an outpost of civilization on the edge of the desert.

The cattle trails from Texas northward were described in entertaining fashion, as was the trail to Oregon. The northern trails were generally traversed by farmers, and the southern ones by traders, it was revealed.

Further lights and contrasts on the subject were given by D. W. Campbell, who described graphically a recent visit to the desert dwelling of Death Valley Scotty. This mansion, located 30 miles north of Stovepipe Wells, in an almost inaccessible location, is an amazing work of architecture, and one not frequently visited by tourists. Its arrangement, comforts, and scenic distinctions were well covered by Campbell, who has made a careful study of the place and its story.

Monte Montana, the ropeswinging youth of the Fiesta del Oro rodeo, was present to contribute enjoyable entertainment to the program with his "wise cracks" and his rope tricks.

PLAN MEETING ON WAGES AND WORKING HOURS

A meeting of officials of local civic organizations, including the Business Men's association, the chamber of commerce and the Santa Ana Merchants' association, will be held in the near future to discuss a uniform plan for shortening working hours of employees and raising wages. It was announced today by Phil M. Brown, manager of the Business Men's association.

Brown is making a survey of the plans being discussed or placed in operation in other cities, including Los Angeles, and as soon as he has secured information regarding what other cities are doing, the meeting will be called.

The plans include co-operation of all Santa Ana business men and merchants in the president's program to provide more employment and to end the depression in accordance with terms of the National Recovery act, Brown said.

Brown said some cities are planning to adopt a 40-hour working week. He pointed out that conditions in a smaller city are different than those in Los Angeles, where downtown stores close Saturday afternoons.

Aviators To Pay Last Respects To Victim Of Crash

Santa Ana pilots will pay their last respects today to Robert Ferrell, flier killed last Saturday night in a plane crash at Balboa. The pilots will scatter flowers from airplanes on the train that leaves here at 4:40 p. m. bearing Ferrell's body to Wichita, Kan., for burial.

Ferrell was a member of the Eddie Martin Pilots' association and pilots who will fly their planes over the train are members of the organization.

Fliers who will pay tribute to their dead companion are: Floyd Martin, Burr Chandler, Ralph Mitchell, Paul Rogers, Calvin Lambert and Dale Decker.

An earthquake travels at the rate of between 470 and 530 feet a second.

BOYS ADRIFT IN MOTORBOAT FOR 24 HOURS SAVED

A spectacular rescue of four youths who had been drifting at sea for 24 hours in a small boat was effected at Wood's Point, near Laguna Beach, this morning.

Carl Randall, 18, 1049 Mission street, South Pasadena; Bud Marsh, 21, and David Fry, 19, both of 1124 Mission street, South Pasadena, and Al Wood, 20, of Halstead circle, Alhambra, were the youths rescued.

The boys started out at 4 o'clock yesterday morning in a four-cylinder motor boat and went to Catalina. On the way back at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, about 12 miles off Balboa, gasoline gave out.

The youths had eaten all their food and had but a small quantity of water left. They drifted in the small boat to a point a mile off Wood's Point, gave signals but no one saw them.

Despairing of rescue, two of the boys, Marsh and Fry, started to swim to shore. The distance was greater than they thought, and they became exhausted.

H. B. Hammond, who lives near Wood's Point, saw the boys in the boat but not the swimmers. He called Chief of Police Abe Johnson of Laguna Beach, who notified Capt. O. B. Ayres, who started to their rescue. In the meantime, Johnson also went to their aid and discovered the two swimmers, floating to conserve their strength. Life guards called out in the meantime William Schleicher saw the swimmers and took a buoy with him for the rescue. The boys suffered from exposure but were not seriously injured by their experience.

Recipe Contest Opens Tomorrow

A recipe contest, staged by the Alpha Beta stores and the Weason Salad Oil company, will be started tomorrow morning. It was announced by Lars Hanson, Alpha Beta official.

All that is necessary to enter the contest is to send in a recipe of a favorite salad or other dish which calls for home made mayonnaise as an ingredient. Recipes should be sent to the Alpha Beta Food markets or to the Orange County market. Judges will be announced later, Hanson said.

First prize is 12 points of Weason oil, one mayonnaise maker and one three-pound can Snowdrift; second prize is eight points Weason oil, one mayonnaise maker, one three-pound can Snowdrift; third prize is six points Weason oil, one mayonnaise maker, one three-pound can Snowdrift, while fourth and fifth prizes are four points Weason oil, mayonnaise makers and three-pound cans of Snowdrift.

The contest will close in two weeks.

Hearing Is Set For Next Week

Through stipulation of W. M. Burke, attorney for J. F. Burke, editor and publisher of The Register, and Deputy District Attorney Leo B. Ellis, the preliminary hearing has been continued one week. Burke was scheduled to appear tomorrow morning at 9:30 o'clock before Justice of the Peace A. W. Swayze in connection with the charge involving the automobile accident last fall in which Harry Prichard lost his life.

The Public Forum

Communications under this heading must be signed by the name of the writer. These communications express the opinions of the writers of them. The opinions may or may not be the opinions of The Register.

Editor of Register, Dear Sir:

As there is a question of where the city hall should be located, it has caused wide difference of opinion among the parties interested in locating the building on the outskirts of the park, which has its good reasons for the location.

I take the liberty of making a suggestion which ought to meet the consent of all the different plans and locations suggested.

Let the city discard Third street as far as the length of the park, build the city hall on the northeast corner of the park, or rather on the vacated street. If necessary buy 10 or 15 feet on the north of the street and put the library building on the east end. Have a croquet court, and a horseshoe plat. There is no town or city that is so poorly equipped to entertain the man or woman of leisure as Santa Ana. You want people to come and live here, but you do not provide any place to amuse their inclination.

The city has a horseshoe yard but it is an out of the way place with no shade or seats, a place of poor aspect at best.

By accepting the above plan, it meets every requirement and saves the city thousands of dollars. It enhances the value of the park without encroaching on its birthright given to the city by the Birch family, which the city should acknowledge by erecting a bronze monument of them.

Respectfully,
O. N. HARWOOD.

FIESTA WHISKERS JUDGED THURSDAY

Wylie Carlyle, C. A. Cobb, Maynard Workman, Ralph Raber, H. H. Ely, Dr. Roy Horton, B. E. Snow and Ivie Stein.

Man Jailed After Valuable Saddle Sold for $7.50

Selling a saddle valued at $25 for a mere $7.50 was one of the reasons why Charles Brophy, 509 South Shaffer street, Orange, was booked at the county jail this noon on suspicion of burglary.

William Lindsey, 801 East Third street, owner of the valuable saddle, had it stolen from his ranch on Buaro road on June 20. Brophy admitted selling the saddle to the Parkmouth stables, Irvine park, where the first suspicions were aroused. The license number of Brophy's car was traced by sheriff's officers and the defendant arrested by Deputy Sheriff's G. F. McKelvey and Merle Dean.

9 NOTED MEN TO TALK HERE NEXT WINTER

Plans were revealed last night for a Santa Ana forum that will bring to Santa Ana, during the winter months, nine of the nation's outstanding men for a series of lectures. The list of speakers was included in an application filed with the Santa Ana School board in connection with an application for use of the high school auditorium. The application was granted.

The first program will bring to Santa Ana, Norman Thomas, candidate for president on the Socialist ticket, last November, and Dr. Clinton Wunder, for a debate. Succeding programs will present Senator Robert LaFollette Jr., of Wisconsin, Chester Rowell, editor and columnist; V. F. Calverton, Dr. Rufus von KleinSmid, president of University of Southern California, Norman Hapgood, editor of Collier's magazine; Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of "The Nation" and Dr. Alexander Meiklejohn, nationally known educator.

RAMAGE'S RECORD
Since he started his comeback this year, Lee Ramage, Pacific coast heavy, has scored victories over Steve Hamas, Tuffy Griffith, Ace Hudkins, Babe Hunt, K. O. Christner and Less Kennedy.

DEATH CLAIMS JOHN MORRIS. CRASH VICTIM

John D. Morris, 2108 Kilson drive, Santa Ana, seriously injured on June 30 in a traffic accident at Tustin and Chapman avenues in Orange, died yesterday at St. Joseph's hospital. An inquest was held this afternoon from the Smith and Tutthill Funeral parlors by Coroner Earl Abbey.

Paul L. Farmer, 34, welder, living at 171 Third street, Uplands, driver of the car which crashed into a machine driven by Morris, is serving a sentence of 90 days in the county jail for reckless driving. He was held after the crash for investigation of manslaughter, later convicted of the reckless driving charge and then appealed the case to the superior court.

Morris was thrown through the windshield of his automobile from the impact of the crash and was unconscious for several hours. He suffered a basal skull fracture, deep lacerations on the head and shoulders and severe cuts and bruises. His death brings the traffic fatalities to 26 in the county since January.

Morris is survived by his widow, Mrs. Nora Morris, a daughter, Mrs. Betty Jessie of Santa Ana. Funeral services will be announced later.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

— News Behind the News —

WASHINGTON
By George Durne

BLACKSTONE
Everyone has been wondering whether any particular industrial group would have the courage to appeal from a National Recovery code ruling and thus try to force a decision from the United States Supreme Court.

Agents of Administrator Johnson have gleaned undercover reports that certain bituminous coal operators in the non-union West Virginia fields were planning the fatal leap.

They have even heard—and here they are careful to note it is hearsay—that a friendly judge is being banked upon to shoot the case upward should the operators decide to back NIRA with Blackstone.

Washington headquarters hears a basic line of reasoning goes back of the tentative decision to tilt with Uncle Sam's wind mill.

West Virginia coal fields long have been non-union strongholds. The United Mine Workers see a golden opportunity in the present situation to organize the "backward" soft coal regions.

Highly private advices laid on General Johnson's desk indicate certain of the West Virginia owners—up to a few days ago at least—had about decided the only way to stop unionization inroads was to go to court and contest the whole setup.

BLUFF
Those conducting the National Recovery Administration's course will say nothing on the subject for publication. Confidentially, they express supreme confidence the soft coal men will never dare to make such a move.

First, the Recovery-ites are banking on nationally welded public opinion to deter any such hostile course.
Second, they will tell you in the quiet of their offices it is their considered opinion the Supreme Court would not let such a case get to it in this period of worry and stress.

No one can speak for the Nation's highest tribunal but the officials of NIRA point out that all law should be tempered to the human equation.
It is their off-record belief the Supreme Court will see to it that no rulings are made while such a vital experiment is being undertaken to correct such a vital emergency.

AIRMAIL
Officials of the Post Office Department and executives of a number of commercial air lines are now in the throes of conference over the unpleasant problem of squeezing our air mail service into an economy corset.

It was made necessary by a mandatory curtailment of nearly five million dollars in Federal appropriations effective July 1. Since that date the operators have been cut 25 per cent indiscriminately pending a solution.
The contracts were made in the Hoover administration and presumably are binding but Congress just didn't leave enough dough behind to meet the bill.

CHIPS
Post Office officials who have looked into the situation have reported most informally that the line which best could be spared is that running from Dallas, Tex., to Los Angeles. It carries least mail of the big routes.

Here's a catch. This line costs the government about $900,000 a year and has an intermediary stop at Douglas, Arizona. This is the town named after the family of Budget Director Lewis Douglas, erstwhile Congressman from that district.

Did you mean it, Lew, when you said let the chips fall where they may?

WHISKEY
You may look for a big-scale licensing of whiskey distilleries almost any day now. Commissioner Doran in charge of industrial alcohol has received orders to that effect from higher up. There's a story back of it.

In the first place administration officials learned a lesson from the sudden return of beer. There weren't enough breweries running to meet the demand.

If the 18th Amendment is to be repealed before the year ends our Washington fathers feel their should be an adequate supply of what might be called "drinking whiskey" at least on the way to maturity.

"CUTTING"
Seven distilleries are now manufacturing all the whiskey that's legal. The reserve supply of medicinal brands they have on hand is only a quarter or less of the Nation's 1919 consumption.

From New York the other day, via that half of the National Whirligig, came word that certain distilleries were planning to combine with certain alcohol plants for the old Spanish custom of putting one quart of rye and seven quarts of alcohol together and making two gallons of "rye whiskey."

This is about the "cut" percentage our bootleggers have been applying for the past thirteen years. It must be the New Deal wants to toss a hand to the whiskey people for inspection.

DERN
Word continues to seep out of local official drawing rooms that Secretary of War Dern is unhappy in his job and may be the first of the New Dealers to sever a Cabinet connection.

The former Utah Governor's scrap with Secretary of Interior Ickes over the Army's share of public works funds started rumors. But those who should know around the War Department give more weight to intimations that the General Staff has been giving Dern the run-around. He hasn't been consulted on certain matters of major policy until after they had been started circulating in official channels.

ARIZONA
Private advices received from the wide open spaces via pony express hint that Mrs. John C. Greenway, Democratic National Committeewoman for Arizona, may seek Henry Ashurst's seat in the U. S. Senate next year.

Mrs. Greenway is a great friend of the Roosevelt. The President, Mrs. Roosevelt and quite recently Elliott have spent pleasant moments at her Williams ranch.

NOTES
Among other rackets the Copeland Senatorial committee is looking into the practice of fixing horse races. . . . Agents for the Narcotics Bureau, whose only interest is the source of the dope used, have supplied some interesting information. . . . A mixture based on heroin and squirted into a neck vein is reported to be one way of making a selling player think he is related to Man O'War. . . . Former Governor Groesbeck of Michigan got turned away at the Washington hotel has patronized for years the other day. . . . "Sorry," said the clerk, "but we're up to our ears in trade associations."

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

EAGLE
The blanket code approved by the President is much kinder to industry than the one originally planned.

The first proposal involved stiffer wage and hour requirements and was a pretty hard-boiled affair. But New York and other advisers who are sympathetic to the Recovery Plan filed vigorous objections. They said it would put industry's back up instead of winning cooperation and leave the government out on a limb. They pointed out that you can't bite very hard with false teeth.

This finally won official approval after a prolonged inside argument. The consensus here is that the terms of the code are now so plain that no business will be able to dig up valid excuses for refusal to participate.

The heaviest publicity ammunition will be directed at consumers. The object will be to foster an effective boycott (without calling it that) of firms which do not volunteer. Insiders predict that stores without the NIRA eagle emblem will become as popular as a "made-in-Germany" label in a synagogue.

The next most important trick will be to persuade stores to deal only with eagleized manufacturers. Leaders in the retail trade all over the country are already being enlisted in a campaign for that purpose. If this eagle goes over the government wins. Important local retailers are sure that it will.

Local pressure through Chambers of Commerce will also be a big factor. In fact they are the backbone of the whole plan. Mobilization of public opinion is counted on as the surest cure for slackers.

RECRUITS
Wall Street security houses will be early and ardent recruits for the blanket code. They had not intended to form a code of their own—having no need for one—but you can bet they won't miss this chance to hop on the bandwagon.

WARNING
General Johnson's warning that failure of universal cooperation to lift purchasing power would bring chaos within 60 days drew sharp criticism here. New York thinks that threatening tactics defeat their purpose and that prophets of woe should be shipped to Kamchatka.

But insiders admit that an inventory crisis is fully possible within two or three months. Many companies have already piled up bumper crops of low cost "hay" which may come back to plague them.

Steel operations are a case in point. Producing at 55 per cent capacity was not as healthy as it sounds. Confidential information indicates that much of it was building up low cost inventories in the hope of sale at higher prices later. The public works program will take up part of the slack.

McCoy Oils ARE BETTER

All oils sold in any McCoy store are the very best obtainable. McCoy Castor Oil is not only medicinally pure but is chemically pure, making it odorless and tasteless. McCoy Olive Oil is a virgin oil made from extra select olives. McCoy's Mineral Oil is tasteless and odorless. Pints are 39c, quarts 77c.—A.D.V.

The rest of it may cause some painful headaches.
About 38 per cent is for actual needs. The rest is hopeful nerve.

RELATIONS
Relations between industry and the NRA have become much more cordial in the last couple of weeks. New York business men who have gone to Washington expecting to find General Johnson a fire-eater have been agreeably disappointed.

They come back with the impression that the General is a square-shooter and that he has no intention of riding anybody who plays the game. This has done a lot to abate conservative fears and suspicions.

At the same time they get the assurance that those who cooperate will not be allowed to suffer from the competition of cheaters. Johnson and his aids make it clear that they will not hesitate to swing the axe on would-be chisellers. This is particularly good news to the oil industry which now sees a chance of getting somewhere on legitimate lines.

"SALESMEN"
A certain local brewery functioned as a bootleg outfit before beer was legalized. It employed thirty "gorillas" at a thousand dollars a week to do the strong-arm work that was part of the game.

Along came the depression and the boys were cut to a modest $250 a week. Then with beer legalized the company decided it had no further use for their services. It told them they were fired.

But the boys aren't the meek type. They held a meeting with the General Manager and told him they refused to quit. They said they only knew one job. If they couldn't work for the brewery, well, they could work against it.

The company saw the point. The boys are still on the payroll as salesmen at $350 a week. They are still using the old sales methods and the methods still work. It is stated on good authority that the draught beer from this brewery would easily assay 5 to 6 per cent of alcohol if one took the trouble to analyze it. It's a popular brand.

SILVER COINAGE BACK IN PARIS AFTER 13 YEARS

BY MORRIS GILBERT
NEA Service Writer

PARIS, July 26.—Silver coinage is coming back here after 13 years. By the end of the next year, according to present plans, three billion francs in silver coins will be in circulation in denominations of 10 and 20 francs. At par, 10 francs is about 40 cents American. That means that France, for the first time since 1920 is bringing out what corresponds to 40-cent and 80-cent pieces. There may be also a big issue of new silver five-franc pieces.

Also, the government is issuing new base-metal currency for two francs, a franc, and half a franc. We would think of them at par as eight-cent pieces, four-cent pieces, and two-cent pieces.

The new French coinage has already begun to appear but the substitution of government currency for all the queer money that has been in use since the war isn't expected to be finished before December, 1934.

Nothing But Paper

France stopped coining gold pieces in 1915. She stopped coining silver five years later.

At first, after the war, there was nothing but paper—and the silver minted up to 1920. The government didn't back any bill smaller than 50 francs. Paper money of lower value was issued and backed by the French Chamber of Commerce. It was "token" money, but it served very well.

So when inflation set in, after the war, and the French franc dropped from a value of 20 cents to four cents, there was lots of speculation in French silver. The five-franc pieces—as big as the old American "cartwheel"—were especially good for this kind of trafficking.

Paper Traded

A speculator would gather up five franc pieces and take them to Switzerland. There he would trade them for Swiss paper francs—which, they are oxidized in value—and bring these back to France. In France, the Swiss paper was still at par. The profit was enormous.

The effect of trafficking and of hoarding was that silver disappeared from circulation. There was a "crise de monnaie"—a crisis of cash.

Thereupon the French had to invent new ways of buying their newspapers and their cigarets and other small purchases.

They even used little packages of stamps, wrapped up in oiled paper, for money.

Counters Issued

The Chamber of Commerce of France stepped in to save the situation. It began issuing "jettons," or counters made of bronze-aluminum, with the symbol of the Chamber of Commerce on one side and the promise, "Good for 50 centimes" or a franc, or two francs, on the other.

These "jettons" became the principal small change of the country, backed by nothing but the Chamber of Commerce's say-so.

Small change is still queer here. The "jettons" still persist. So do the government base-metal coins. There are three kinds of sous. One is copper, one solid nickel, one nickel with a hole in it. There is diversity of two sous, or 10 centime pieces, and there are five-sou pieces with and without holes.

This is approximately as if there were in the United States three kinds of cents, three kinds of two-cent pieces, two kinds of nickels, and two kinds of dimes; not to mention paper 20-cent and 40-cent notes.

The French, bored with the variety of their postwar coinage, are attempting to straighten it up again. They have already begun with government issues of franc and two-franc pieces, and the new silver-alloy coins.

Various items of the budget were discussed and proposed expenditures were explained by the school board. After the discussion the budget was accepted in its entirety by unanimous vote of those present.

Dan Mackay, clerk of the board, stated that Miss Mildred Blair, who had been signed to teach the third grade, had resigned and that Miss Margaret Lawson had been signed in her place.

troileum launched an active campaign when it first entered the Pacific coast field," R. S. King, vice president and general sales manager, said "Public reception and endorsement of its products at that time were phenomenal, and it is anticipated that the present campaign will be even more successful."

"Newspaper space will carry the major part of the sales burden. General Petroleum, like other major industrial units, has proved to its own satisfaction that there is no substitute for newspaper advertising. All other elements in the campaign will tie in with the newspaper effort."

The consensus of the reports were to the effect that the plans of calling as featured in the societies had been recognized as of most assistance to pastors.

The president reported there are 57 aids in the district, with a membership of 3,625, and they had totaled more than 50,000 calls during the past year, and had raised more than $20,000 for their churches.

In recommending plans for the new year, suggestions of needs of reading courses, of literature and institutional chairman, and of having a public affairs department were brought in. Another suggestion was to work for conformity in having all paragonages furnished.

HALE ELECTED PRESIDENT OF CHAMBER GROUP

PLACENTIA, July 26.—H. H. Hale, a pioneer of the Placentia district, and former president of the Orange county Associated Chambers of Commerce, was elected president of Placentia Chamber of Commerce at a reorganization meeting yesterday noon.

The presidency of the chamber has been left vacant since the death early last spring of A. S. Bradford, who had occupied the chair since the chamber was organized.

Work at preparing for election next Monday, where residents of the Placentia Union Grammar school district, was discussed, with S. H. Strathman, secretary of the chamber, reporting that an organization has started at Richfield district by what he termed "prejudiced outside parties."

"Fullerton now has the cost of education so low that it is satisfactory, but if they can get the Valencia Union High school voted down, they will have removed a menace for the next several years, and then how long do you think they will keep that tax rate down?" he said.

The directors voted to back a request of the Huntington Beach municipality asking a bill be placed in legislature granting the city the use of adjoining tidelands.

Appointive officers installed were W. D. Solesbee, Placentia, guide; Otis Cooper, first watch; C. A. Zincke, second watch; Joe Batchman, third watch; and Don Nelson, fourth watch; C. J. Maule, head of the team, outside sentinel; A. S. Johnston, inside sentinel; Henry Patton, guide of the tent, and Dwight Rilea, second guide of the tent.

Mauheran, district deputy grand patriarch, and Walter Avis of Pomona, past grand patriarch; R. M. Funk, Pomona, grand senior warden of encampment; J. Kellman, Ontario, grand sentinel of grand encampment; Frank Catching of Huntington Beach, district deputy grand master, and Walter Smith, Whittier, grand trustee of grand encampment, were among the high officials who attended, and who made short talks.

The program was made up of groups of solos by Gordon Drew. He was accompanied at the piano by Miss Bates.

At the close of the ceremony, refreshments were served, with Granz as head of the committee in charge.

MASS MEETING HELD ON MATTER OF WITHDRAWAL FROM SCHOOL DISTRICT

PLACENTIA, July 26.—To further advance the cause of forming a new high school district, to be made up of the Placentia Union Grammar school district, and to be called the Valencia Union High school, a public mass meeting was held last night at the chamber of commerce hall, where 25 citizens gathered to hear the case presented by those desiring the school.

John Tuffree presided at the meeting. He outlined reasons for forming the district at the present time, stating that if the proposed state control program goes into effect, it will create a consolidation of grammar school districts into high school districts, and that the Fullerton Union district, as now organized is large and unwieldy to be formed into an active organization.

He said there is no relationship between cost of education and the average daily attendance cost, and presented some figures to show the cost of education at Fullerton Union high school, as compared with other schools. According to presentations made, Strathman said the Placentia Union district pays annually to the Fullerton district about $50,000, and that those who want withdrawal, think the amount will educate the Placentia students at a less cost, and leave some for building.

He said the work of outlining a building program, of voting any needed bond issues, and all details will be left up to the school board if the new district is formed.

Another reason he gave for desiring withdrawal is that the academic ratings for the larger schools are not so good, comparatively, as the smaller schools.

C. G. Teed, a resident of the Richfield district, chief of which was that he wanted a black and white outline shown on just how Placentia Union district is going to keep the upper grade students in the Fullerton high school, care for buildings and for establishing a plant on grounds in Placentia, and carry on the usual building program without placing a bond issue, and raising the taxes for the people, and after a great deal of questioning along that line Strathman admitted that "we may have a little more load for the first few years."

Teed also questioned the possibility of equipping a good high school without expenditure of enormous sums of money, and said he thought Placentia Union district should make use of the money and equipment at Fullerton, the buildings which it helped to erect, and also take advantage of the exceedingly low tax rate

BLACK NAMED LEGION HEAD AT ELECTION

FULLERTON, July 26.—Ray Black was elected new commander of Fullerton American Legion post, 142, at the annual meeting last night when the members balloted on leaders for the coming year. The others elected were George Askey, first vice commander; Charles Fallert, second vice commander; George Willette, finance officer; Ernest Kirby, chaplain, and David Lewis, historian.

Elected from a group of nominees for executive committee were Raymond Starbuck, present commander; Robert Miller, Askey, Orin Crooke and A. J. Gottlieb.

"At Home" Cards Being Received

FULLERTON, July 26.—Many Fullerton residents are receiving at home cards announcing the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Spaeht (Mary Carpenter) at Belmont Shore, on Glendale avenue.

The young couple were married early this month. Mrs. Spaeht was a graduate of Fullerton Union high school. Her home formerly was at La Habra, where her parents lived.

on the need of withdrawal were Mrs. A. L. Anderson, Mrs. Nellie Cline, S. James Tuffree, Warren Bradford and Frank Rospaw, besides the spokesman, Strathman.

At the close of the meeting, those interested stayed to organize for election day, to get out the vote for formation of a new district.

But someone said:
"How about SPEED?"

The Contest Board of the American Automobile Association finds STANDARD GASOLINE unsurpassed in SPEED

Here is the AAA Report. Read it: "This is to certify that in the series of speed tests in which Standard Gasoline and six other strictly non-premium motor fuels, considered to be leading brands, were individually tested for maximum speed in two popular makes of cars, we find Standard Gasoline unsurpassed for SPEED.

The cars selected for these tests were a six-cylinder stock car in the seventy-five-mile-an-hour class and an eight-cylinder stock car in the eighty-mile-an-hour class.

The method used was as follows:
To fully depress the throttle, permit the car to attain its maximum speed before contacting the timing device, and running over the course selected under full throttle.

Each of the seven fuels tested was purchased by our representative in the open market from regular consumer outlets and was identifiable during the tests by code name known only to us.

All tests were conducted by us under carefully controlled conditions of operation in accordance with the rules and policies of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association.

This statement is based on data developed by and on file with the AAA Contest Board."

Three gala days and nights of old California—Expressing the early romance of the picturesque Southwest.

Spanish singers and dancers—many famous stars re-enacting the "Spirit of old Spain" in California.

International Celebrities, Stage Coaches, Covered Wagons, Indians, Miners, Caballeros and Senoritas.

Silver mounted outfits, upon the finest horses of the Southland.

This magnificent pageant depicts the period of the occupation of California by English speaking people. All of the gorgeous color, picturesqueness and romance of the early Southwest.

Fiesta Del Oro

Fiesta del Oro—the Feast of Gold! All the colorful and romantic history of California during the period of 1830 to 1865 is woven into this fiesta of the California Spanish. Annually, late in the summer, from every section of the country came the Indians, Mexicans, Padres, Spanish—and during the gold rush of forty-nine, came the English speaking people. At the largest Hacienda they gathered, and traded, and made merry for a week. Every known game of chance and skill was played—while dancing, singing, and feasting, made the event one eagerly looked forward to, and long remembered.

It is singularly fitting that Orange county, the natural playground of southern California, with its thousands of acres of orchard and wealth of golden fruit should choose to perpetuate this Fiesta del Oro.

Santa Ana, located in the only Spanish grant in southern California, has chosen wisely to keep alive this ancient custom of the Fiesta, and the newly erected Stadium with a seating capacity of 10,000 is an ideal setting for rodeo and pageant. The Hacienda, built especially for the second annual Fiesta del Oro at the Stadium, transports you back to the days of the Dons, with all the color and dash of the time of the Covered Wagon and the Forty-Niners.

Come—Join the Merry Makers at the Fiesta del Oro! July 27th, 28th and 29th.

PASTOR TALKS ON STANDARDS AT MESA MEET

COSTA MESA, July 26.—The Rev. Harry Owens, pastor of the First Baptist church of Santa Ana, was the chief speaker on the program given at the local Brotherhood meeting in the social hall of the Community church last night. Rev. Owens spoke on the subject, "Can We Stabilize Our Standards?"

He compared the standards that we as a Christian nation have set, with those of nations and tribes in Bible days, pointing out that history repeats itself, and that Christian people must accept the challenge to meet and help solve present day problems.

Other numbers on the program were, two readings, "Biddy's Troubles," given by Miss Maydelle Allen, two violin numbers, "Blue Bell and Violet Waltz," and "Little Indian Chief," played by Miss Lucile Boyd, accompanied at the piano by Miss Doris McMurry; and two selections, "Flowery Dreams," and "Chinese Lullaby," sung by the girls trio, Maydelle Allen, Evelyn Rollins, and Lyla Ruth Allen, accompanied at the piano by Miss Ardith Lowe. Ed Bennett was program chairman for the occasion.

During the business session T. J. Reynolds gave a brief report of the recent general conference. He represented the Costa Mesa church at the conference as lay delegate. H. B. McMurry, representing the pulpit supply committee, announced that the Rev. J. H. Ogle will fill the pulpit next Sunday morning in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. W. I. ## FIRST CONCERT PRESENTED BY LAGUNA BAND LAGUNA BEACH, July 26.—Reaching a high degree of musicianship in its first concert under the patronage of the Community club, the Southeast Symphony Orchestra won a distinct triumph last night at the club auditorium under the direction of Bert Hollom. Miss Edith McDonald, a Laguna Beach girl, scored an individual success as dramatic soprano soloist, singing with the orchestra. A former Tustin high school graduate, Miss McDonald majored in music at Whittier College and last year took a post graduate course. She was repeatedly encoored.

Composed of experienced musicians from a number of the Orange county coast communities, the orchestra is making a bid for recognition among the standard musical organizations of Southern California. Playing without pay and solely for the love of music and charging no admittance, the musicians displayed class in their presentation of the finale of the Western World Symphony (Dvorak), which was the principal number. The program in general was a popular one. It opened with La Czarina (Ganne), the interpretation of the director showing familiarity and tradition. Other numbers in the opening group were Coquette L'Armour (Friml) and Mock Morris (Granger), the latter played with much spirit.

Miss McDonald's group included Homing (De Riego), Overtures (Rasbach) and Song of the Open (La Forge). The Laguna girl's singing proved a genuine treat and Director Howell declared after the concert that she holds great promise for a musical career. Following the songs, the orchestra played favorite melodies from New Moon (Romberg) and from Massenet's "Alaïan scenes," and numbers—Under the Linden, a duet for cello and flute and Sunday night.

A silver offering was taken by the club to help defray the actual expenses of the concert. Charles Gilmore was master of ceremonies. A reception for the musicians followed the program. The concert was the first of a series of eight under the club guarantee.

ANNUAL 4-H PICNIC WILL BE JULY 29

LA HABRA, July 26.—The La Habra 4-H club will hold its annual picnic at Ganesha Park on Saturday July 29. These plans were completed at the regular 4-H club meeting held Monday evening at the home of the leader, R. E. Launer.

Boys of the club were on hand Tuesday to deliver invitations to the affair which were written in the form of a court summons. These invitations were delivered personally. However, the affair is open to anyone interested in the work and all are invited to attend. Parents of the club members, farm center members and members of the farm advisors offices were especially invited.

The affair will start with a picnic lunch at one o'clock, Saturday, followed by a baseball game between the 4-H boys and their parents and the farm center members. Swimming is also on the program.

At the La Habra 4-H picnic last year there were 135 present for the luncheon, others coming for the afternoon events. As large a crowd is expected this year.

Following the business meeting Monday night the boys held a wienie bake and had an hour of games before adjourning.

WOMAN BURNED IN GAS EXPLOSION

SEAL BEACH, July 26.—Mrs. Gertrude Lockner of 1506 Ocean boulevard here was severely burned at her home Sunday when the oven of the gas stove exploded as she opened it. She was taken by local police to the office of Dr. William P. Garrison in Belmont Shore.

She was reported as suffering from first and second degree burns about the face and arms. According to her statement, Mrs. Lockner had placed some buns wrapped in wax paper in the oven of the gas stove when the explosion occurred, enveloping her in the flames. Police are of the opinion that the overheated wax paper may have given off the gas which caused the explosion.

BIRTHDAY OF GIRL HONORED AT PARTY

MIDWAY CITY, July 26.—In observance of the ninth birthday anniversary of her young daughter, Patricia, Mrs. Bert Heath was hostess to a group of Patricia's young neighbors friends at the Heath home on Van Buren street, Saturday afternoon.

One of Patricia's birthday gifts, a new bicycle, was the main source of enjoyment for the guests who took turns about the block, while others played games which were also birthday gifts. Refreshments were served at outdoor tables.

Children who enjoyed with Patricia the anniversary party included Mildred and Ruth Robertson, Marjorie Whitacre, Betty Bradshaw, Joyce Campbell, Dorothy Boden, Billy and Jean Johnson, Ruth Hocker, Sammy Joyce Taylor, Florence and Jimmie Dale, Eugene Luff, Doris Jean Foley, Virginia and Mary Jean Johnson of Alamitos and Bobbie Heath.

POLICE HEAD WARNS BOYS AGAINST SHOOTING GUNS

LAGUNA BEACH, July 26.—Chief of Police Abe W. Johnson would like to interview some hunters, believed to be boys, who shot three horses from the Los Amigos Riding club while they were in pasture on hills of the Yoch ranch in Laguna Canyon. Buckshot penetrated the hides of the animals, stampeding them. While the horses were not seriously injured, they were made unfit for riding for some time.

Residents of the Temple Hills section also have reported broken windows and other depredations, which the chief attributes to the mischievous activities of boys. One owner of a house on the Cliffs returned to find windows broken and shot on the floors of the rooms. "No parent should permit a boy to carry a gun of any kind," said the police head, "unless he is reasonably certain that the lad is intent on hunting and not to do mischief. They might kill or blind one of the horses, or the houses they believe to be empty might be occupied and the shooting lead to serious consequences. Parents cannot hope that the authorities will be lenient in cases of this kind."

ED WYNN VISITS AT LAGUNA BEACH

LAGUNA BEACH, July 26.—Ed Wynn, famous stage comedian and "fire chief" of the radio, returned to the tumult of strike-torn Hollywood yesterday after passing a quiet week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Riemer, on Diamond street. Riemer will direct Wynn in his next M-G-M picture, the working title of which will be "The Fire Chief."

Yesterday actor and director were guests of Arthur Caesar, film writer, on a fishing trip. They returned with a good catch of yellowtail and bass.

Wynn didn't make one wisecrack his friends said. He said he refused to mix business and pleasure.

Caesar, who is something of a wisecracker himself, is working on the Wynn story with Riemer and the actor.

Lawrence Grant, who recently purchased a seafront home here, entertained a party of Hollywood friends over the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick March had visitors at the Three Arch Bay home as did "Slim" Summerville, who owns a home in Sleepy Hollow.

MEN SENTENCED ON THEFT COUNT

SEAL BEACH, July 26.—M. Puckett, 37 a marine from San Diego, and J. Myer, 19, a civilian, also from San Diego, were arrested last Monday morning by Night Officer Lee Howard of the local police when they were surprised in the act of stealing gasoline from a truck belonging to D. D. Lawhead; the truck was parked back of Lawhead's service station at the corner of Main street and the state highway. The pair was held in the city jail for trial yesterday morning before Justice of the Peace Fred Smith. Puckett was fined $25 and sentenced to two days in jail for committing the crime, and Myer was given a two day sentence for being an accessory to the crime.

MAN ARRESTED ON SPEEDING CHARGE

LA HABRA, July 26.—After evading the La Habra officers since May, 1932, Emérito Miranda, 33, of Los Angeles, was arrested last week by Chief of Police A. J. Collins and brought to La Habra for trial on a speeding charge. Collins has been after Miranda for nearly a year and a half.

Miranda was given a trial before Judge A. C. Earley and fined $25 or twelve and a half days in jail. He is serving the jail sentence.

MAN IS FINED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

SEAL BEACH, July 26.—D. A. Watson of Long Beach was arrested late Sunday night on charges of driving while drunk. At the time of the arrest, the traffic was fairly heavy and the driving of Watson was endangering the lives of other motorists along the highway, according to a statement made by Officer Lee Howard who made the arrest. The defendant was given a $100 fine in the local justice court.

EARL R. BURRY DIES AT BEACH CITY TUESDAY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, July 26.—Earl F. Burry, 47, died shortly after 12 o'clock yesterday, following an illness of several months. He recently went to the desert in the hope that a change of climate would prove beneficial. Returning a few weeks ago he became so ill that it was necessary to take him to the hospital. Death was due to an affection of the lungs and heart.

Mr. Burry came to Huntington Beach about seven years ago from Pueblo, Colo. He was born in Kansas in a rural section of the state. Mr. Burry was employed by the American States Water Service company in this city until his health failed. His work brought him in contact with the public and he was widely known and universally liked for his kindness and courtesy.

He is survived by his wife and four children, residing at the family home on Ninth street. The children are Miss Hester and Miss Helen Burry, both graduates of the Huntington Beach high school; Jack Burry and Donald Burry. He is also survived by a brother D. E. Burry, local superintendent of the American States Water Service company; a sister, Mrs. Alpha Wright, 629 Sixth street, Santa Ana; a brother residing in Colorado.

The concert will be one of the outstanding musical events of the summer season. Members of the P-T-A. are selling tickets at 25 cents each.

PASTOR AND WIFE TAKE NEW CHARGE

MIDWAY CITY, July 26.—The Rev. J. J. Woodson, who for four years has resided in Midway City where in June he completed his pastorate of the Nazarene church with Mrs. Woodson are leaving next week for Chowchilla where Mr. Woodson goes as pastor of the Southern Methodist church.

The Rev. Mr. Woodson who has always been affiliated with the Southern Methodist denomination with the exception of the four years he substituted in the Nazarene church, was taken into the conference which convened last week at Hollywood, closing a four days' session Sunday night.

The Rev. and Mrs. Woodson attended the entire session of conference. The Chowchilla charge has a stucco church and parsonage and a membership of 197.

Week-end MURDER

begin here today

When elderly Amos Peabody falls to his death from the second story balcony of Tom Averill's Long Island home is murder. Peabody was her cousin. Rushing to the balcony, Linda feels something thrown about her throat, almost strangle and faint.

She and Tom decide to pretend "Peabody" death was an accident, meanwhile devoting themselves to solving the crime. They have for years been a couple of "peas" in a pod, and now they are partners in a murder.

Linda finds the man who strangled her (identified by a smear of sunburn ointment) in Statlander's bath room. Tom, suspicious of Shaughnessey, searches his room. The Irishman discovers this and to get matters right Linda tells him the whole story, asking him to help solve the mystery.

Afternoon Pratt and DeVos plan to go to the Country Club to play tennis with Fleur Stoner and Della Gray. DeVos and Linda have a conversation in which he shows that he is much attracted by Fleur.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XLIV

Shaughnessey chuckled. "Our Belgian friend is entirely too much the lord of the castle," he said. "I can understand the French revolution perfectly when I see the unconscious airs of him—and it's my guess he was the first with any insulating that was done, however elegant his manners whilst he was about it."

"There's something in that," Linda agreed, and briefly recounted the conversation.

Shaughnessey grunted and she thought she detected a note of envy in the sarcasm of his reply. "The conceited spalpeen! He must go to visit at a great Long Island estate—save the mark!—and have a conveyance fit to match his lordship's elegance. 'Twould be good for the likes of him to walk every step of the way. Mrs. Averill, I'm wondering you didn't tell him to his face."

"I hadn't time," confessed Linda. "But then I wouldn't have had the courage, either. The other was an inspiration and it came out before I could stop to think."

"It's myself has the notion that will take him down!" exclaimed the Irishman in one of his jubilant moods. "I'll ask him will he be needing the loan of a dress shirt, a

Engineer Talks On Dam Project

LAGUNA BEACH, July 26.—Work on the big Boulder Dam project is away ahead of schedule, "in spite of . . .", is the way Frank T. Crowe, chief of construction, expressed here, yesterday, while visiting Dr. and Mrs. Spencer Miller at their home 661 Glenroy street. His reference was to emphasize his description of the temperatures under which the work must be done at this time of the year 125 degrees in the shade. Crowe was accompanied by Mrs. Crowe.

Dr. Miller, a noted engineer, invented the cable ways used for dumping concrete on the Panama canal, and two such cableways now are in operation at the main dam.

NEW PRESIDENT OF LA HABRA CLUB ELECTED

LA HABRA, July 26.—Mrs. J. L. Williams of La Habra was chosen president of the La Habra Woman's Improvement Club, at a special meeting of the board of directors, held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Flora Rhodes.

Mrs. Henri Clayton, who was elected to the presidency, before the close of the club year, has found that business affairs which take her away from La Habra will seriously interfere with her work in the club and tendered her resignation.

Completion of the appointment of the committees for the coming year's work will go forward at once under the new president, and Mrs. R. W. Walling, vice-president. A list of the new committees will be announced soon.

Two garden parties for the benefit of the club were announced at this special meeting. One is to be held at the home of Mrs. Louis Muchow, on East Central avenue, August 11th. Hostesses for this party will be Mrs. R. W. Vanderhoof, chairman; Mrs. Rosetta Koontz, Mrs. R. W. Walling, Mrs. E. E. McClure, Mrs. William Sullivan, Mrs. Ben Harp, Mrs. George Clark, Mrs. A. W. McBride, Mrs. L. L. Chandler, and Mrs. G. A. Van Valle.

The second party will be held on the lawn of the N. M. Launer home, the latter part of August, with Mrs. J. A. Chewing, chairman; Mrs. A. J. Young, Mrs. R. E. Frantz, Mrs. E. C. Khaman, Mrs. H. R. Miller, Mrs. G. Lindner, Mrs. W. E. Heiden, Mrs. A. J. Wilson, Mrs. O. T. Stephens and Mrs. Thomas Mahoney.

Women of this community and nearby cities are invited to attend both of these affairs.

CROWD HEARS WAHLBERG IN RUSSIA TALK

COSTA MESA, July 26.—More than 75 people were in attendance at the meeting last night in the grammar school auditorium when Harold Wahlberg of Santa Ana, member of the farm advisory board, spoke on "Russia."

Mr. Wahlberg, who had made an extensive tour through Russia in the interests of agriculture, had taken many pictures of places and things that he had seen and illustrated his talk with the pictures in last night's talk.

Special emphasis was laid on the life of the common people of the country, and a careful description was given of their present methods in both agriculture and industry. Mr. Wahlberg stated that the country is making a special effort to make herself as near self-sustaining as possible, and is setting an example along experimental lines that the rest of the world could well afford to study.

In speaking of the five-year plan he said that five years, or approximately that period of time, is the time set to reach a certain goal in recovery and advancement, and already the program for the second five years is pretty well outlined. The speaker pointed out where Russia had in former years been a good market for certain products, such as cotton from the United States, and tea from China and India, she is now producing many of those things for herself.

The program of the evening was sponsored by the local Socialist organization, Frank Fain having charge of the business session following the lecture.

The next regular meeting of the body was called for Tuesday, August 8th. The meeting to be held in the Spencer building.

Plans are under way to make alternate bi-weekly meetings lecture programs similar to last night's gathering.

Sunday School Picnic Planned

WESTMINSTER, July 26.—The date for the annual picnic of the Westminster Presbyterian Sunday school has been set for Saturday, August 3, and is to be held at Irvine park. Basket lunch will be taken by all attending.

Plans for the picnic are under the direction of Mrs. Marie Hare, superintendent of the Summer Vacation Bible school which is now in its third and last week. The summer bi-weekly meetings have an attendance of around 80 pupils, and this year's picnic bids fair to be the largest held for some years. The picnic is for Bible school and the regular school pupils of the Sunday school.

and as near your cousin's room as the fellow—perhaps nearer."

"Oh, dear—I don't suppose they both did it!"

"That's one thing you can be sure of. He spoke very earnestly. 'Twas one man did it—quick and quiet and alone. 'Twas a quick job with no weapons to show and nothing to leave behind. Do not be discouraged that you have but very small things to help you form your judgment. 'Twill be a thing that gives him away, for 'tis the only sort would be left behind under the circumstances."

"I've about given up hope—" she began.

"Do you not?" He caught her up earnestly, with an urgent emphasis quite unlike his usual half-mocking exaggerated Irish lilt. "Do not stop watching and thinking!"

"I'm sure Tom thinks we should have called in the police."

"And told them—what? That all of us—myself the worst—(he grinned), 'have had tempers and quarreled with the old man? That you thought you were attacked and have only a greasy towel to prove it? That the old man said 'fiver' when he might have stumbled or fallen and that your husband saw a man behind you—and that at a distance when half-blinded by water? 'Tis a clean bill of health they'd have given the lot of us."

"And then you would all have gone back to town and we'd never have had a chance to find out."

"That's the truth of the matter, there! Not one word have I shared with the police. They have shared here and suspected and questioned us. You did right, Mrs. Averill. The police would have laughed at your suspicions and your houseparty would have broken up at the start. No—there is time yet—only don't be wasting it."

"That's what worries me. We seem at a standstill now. Suspicion points everywhere and nowhere."

"Patience—'Tis all I can say. 'Tis a quick, keen brain you have, and yourself is not far behind you. There must be proof somewhere. One of you will find it—or both together."

Uniform Handbill Law Drafted By City Attorneys

ORDINANCE TO BE SUBMITTED TO COUNCILMEN

Endorsed by city attorneys and designed to remedy defects in the handbill ordinances being enforced in various cities, a uniform handbill law has been framed and will be presented to the city council of Orange county tomorrow night at the meeting of the Orange County League of Municipalities in Newport Beach.

The committee of city attorneys held a second meeting yesterday afternoon in the offices of Clyde Downing in the First National Bank building to combine the research and suggestions from the individual cities. If the new law meets the approval of the city officials, 13 incorporated towns in the county will operate under the same regulations on advertising and handbills.

Licensing Clause One of the principal features of the new ordinance is the licensing clause. Persons who wish to distribute circulars or handbills, who have already paid a business license fee for conducting a bona-fide business to the city for advertising his own business exclusively, must pay $20 a year, quarterly, in advance. All others will pay $20 per day in advance.

Another important provision prohibits the distribution of material to persons who notify the city clerk or post a conspicuous sign on their property, that the handbills are not wanted. The city clerk is to instruct all distributors of the premises where advertising matter is not to be deposited and violators of this section, as well as all others, will be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor.

A newspaper is defined in the ordinance as a paper printed and distributed at stated intervals of not less than once a week, to convey news to its bona-fide paid subscribers. Paid subscribers are defined as only those persons who have paid the subscription price. Newspapers are excepted from the regulations of the ordinance when circulated to bona-fide subscribers.

It will be unlawful for any handbills to be circulated in automobiles, other vehicles, on a lawn, yard, vacant lot, hedge, bush or upon any sidewalk or steps in the city. No advertisement can be distributed within six feet of any street, alley, public sidewalk, or bridge or to any person traveling upon any of these places. Nothing may be posted on private property without the consent of the owner.

Containers For Ads Where containers labeled "Advertisements" are placed in a conspicuous place at any residence in the city, all advertising matter must be placed in the container. In addition, all matter must have the license number and date of expiration printed on it.

It was pointed out by the city attorneys that the desire of local merchants to regulate large publications and distributors from nearby cities is treated in the ordinance. Further, if newspapers or stores wish to have general distribution for some special event and have a general business license it is only necessary to pay the quarterly fee of $5.

NEW SERVICE STARTED AS PLANE STOPS HERE

CITY IS MADE 'FLAG' STOP BY AIRPLANE LINE

Santa Ana was established as a "flag" stop of the Gilpin Air lines yesterday morning, when a trimotored plane bound for San Diego discharged two passengers and took on one.

Mrs. M. A. Hillman, of Santa Ana, and her son, Don Hillman of Los Angeles, manager of the travel department of the Southern California Tourist bureau, left the plane here, and George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, went aboard as a passenger for San Diego. The trip marked Mrs. Hillman's first ride in an airplane.

Passengers for San Diego may now board the planes of the Gilpin line here and instead of going to Los Angeles by making arrangements with the local office of the Southern California Tourist bureau, it was stated. The local office of the bureau was instrumental in having Santa Ana designated as a "flag" stop.

Hold Funeral Of Chas. de Freitas

Funeral services for Charles A. de Freitas, high school student, who died from a throat infection, were held Tuesday at the Wallace E. White mortuary. Interment was made in Inglewood Park cemetery.

De Freitas, a native of California, was born in Glendale 20 years ago. He had lived in Los Angeles during his grammar school days, but attended the Santa Ana high school for three years and this past year graduated from the Seattle high school. At the time of his death he was visiting his aunt in Seattle. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. de Freitas, 905 West Seventy-eighth street, Los Angeles, survive him.

ACCOUNTING JOB FOR FORMER COACH

Charles Weber, former track coach at the high school, was appointed to a position in the accounting department of the city school system last night. His appointment, voted by the Santa Ana Board of education, will be effective August 1.

Weber was given the appointment at $125 monthly on motion of Rolla Hays, seconded by Dr. W. M. Burke. In addition to work in the accounting department, Weber will fill in as utility man in the administration office. The salary of $125 will be paid until January 1, after which an adjustment will be made.

The vacancy in the accounting department was created several months ago when Everett Boynton resigned as auditor and budget director to accept a similar position with the Santa Monica school system.

SANTA ANA Y. ARRANGES FOR FAMILY NIGHT

Thursday evening will be observed as family night at the Y. M. C. A., when all the men members of the organization are at liberty to bring their families for a swim in the "Y" plunge. It is expected that the hot weather will make this event unusually attractive and plans are being made to care for a large number of the women and children who will attend.

From 7:30 until 9 o'clock, the swimming pool and locker rooms will be given over to the families for an evening of water sports. The Y. M. C. A. swimming pool is a popular place each day and evening this summer and the recent hot days have added to its usefulness. The pool is used mornings by classes, conducted by D. H. Tibbals, for giving instruction in swimming. Afternoons, from 2 to 4 o'clock, the boys take pos-M. C. A.

LUMBERMEN OF COUNTY ADOPT NATIONAL CODE

Giving full endorsement and adoption of President Roosevelt's policy in fixing maximum working hours and minimum wages, the Orange County Lumberman's club, representing 44 lumber yards, met last night at Ketter's cafe and framed a county wide agreement, which will go into effect August 1.

The lumber dealers will incorporate a 40-hour week for office workers and 35 hours a week for the industrial workers. There will be no reductions in salaries for the shorter hours, since most of the yards are now working 47 hours per week. There was considerable discussion on whether the shorter hours should be distributed over a five-day week with holidays on Saturday or to work Saturday morning. Definite agreement will be made before August 1.

There will be few changes in salary, since most of the workers are above the minimum of 40 cents per hour. In a few isolated cases where workers are receiving below this mark, the rate will be increased.

A telegram was dispatched to President Roosevelt, telling of the action of the county group.

The special reduced membership rate of one dollar a month is proving attractive to many and membership reports for the month of July indicate that this month is going to set a high mark for mid-summer activity in the local Y. M. C. A.

SAFETY LANE DUE NEXT WEEK

Giving motorists an opportunity to check their cars for brakes, lights and other safety factors, the police department will conduct another Safety lane next week. With many school children running in the street, necessity for safe brakes is being stressed.

Motorists Invited to Take Advantage of Safety Tests

Motorists who wish to help in making the streets of Santa Ana as safe as possible for school children are urged to drive through Safety lane next week and have their brakes and other safety factors carefully checked.

Safety lane, sponsored this year by Chief of Police Floyd Howard and the Orange County Auto club, is the most comprehensive safety test ever conducted in Santa Ana. It was tried out with some features will be repeated, including a careful check of brakes, headlights, wheel alignment, steering and other safety factors, making use of the newest automatic equipment especially designed for this work. It requires only a few moments' time and is free to the morning public.

Cars which successfully pass all tests will be issued an O. K. windshield certificate. Drivers of cars which fail will be given a duplicate copy of the official test card showing corrections necessary for safety. By having these corrections properly made and certified to on the back of this card by any responsible service station, the motorist on presentation of the card, will receive an O. K. certificate.

Definite details on the hours that Santa Ana police officers will conduct Safety lane will be announced later this week.

Benefit Play Is Set for Thursday

"Dangerous Waters", featuring an all Negro cast of players, will be presented tomorrow night at the Ebell club for the benefit of Johnson's chapel, A. M. E. church. The presentation is being sponsored by Mrs. Sadie Wilson and Vassar Lee Burks.

The presentation is a clever three-act comedy drama starring Miss Flossie Wingfield. Miss Wingfield has won considerable acclaim as a player and the present vehicle is particularly suited to her ability.

BAND CONCERT IS SCHEDULED FOR THURSDAY

The Santa Ana Municipal band will present the fourth of its series of 16 concerts in Birch park Thursday night beginning promptly at 7:30 o'clock.

The concert will begin with the march, "Rhoda Royal." The overture, "Lustspiel," by Keler-Bela, mandy, a selection by Robert will follow. "Chimes of Normandy," full of the beauty of chime music, will be next on the program. This selection is typical of French music of a classical nature, before the advent of the revolution of the renovators of classical music. F. W. Meacham's composition, "American Patrol," which is a medley, in a lively mood, of patriotic songs, marches, will follow on the concert program. ## Intriguing Plans Told For Garden Party Next Tuesday

As July speeds so rapidly on its way and drowsy August days draw near, Eboli society members feel their interest quickened in the gala affair planned for the afternoon of August 1 (next Tuesday) in the charming gardens of Los Alisos, the ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, Tustin.

Board members of the society and the finance committee are conspiring in planning the big mid-summer party, and Mrs. Walter Watkins as general chairman, has the enthusiastic assistance of this bevy of prominent clubwomen to aid her in following out the ambitious program for a memorable social affair.

While bridge will be the chief feature of entertainment, ample provision will be made for those who do not care for this particular game. Mrs. J. T. Wilson has been accorded charge of the games program in this division, and has spent a busy few weeks in outlining the different amusements to be offered non-bridge players. Clubwomen and their friends who wish to make reservations in this group are asked to telephone Mrs. Wilson at 1866-M.

Mrs. A. G. Flagg, as chairman of the bridge arrangements, today explained that both contract and auction would be played, so that devotees of either form of the game would find plenty of tables available and plenty of competitors worthy of their skill. Reservations may yet be made through Mrs. Maxwell Burke, Mrs. Hugh Shields and Mrs. F. P. Jayne.

The gardens of Los Alisos are so extensive that there will be no difficulty in entertaining a crowd of unusual size such as is anticipated by the hostess group—and indicated by the reservations already received. Tables will be placed in various charming nooks and corners and leafy retreats, and the whole scene promises to be one of animation and loveliness.

At the close of the afternoon's game program, guests will find a note of originality sounded in the manner of serving refreshments for this will be accomplished under the direction of Mrs. J. M. Cloyes, at a series of tea tables each presided over by its hostess. Mrs. Benjamin J. MacMullen and her committee will have the decorative feature of the tea tables in charge, and her artistry in such details is so well known to Eboli society, that everyone is expecting something quite out of the ordinary.

Club Summer Program Includes Joys of Garden Supper

No pleasant finale to a glorious mid-summer day could have been devised for members of the Quill Pen club, than the garden supper at which they were entertained last night in the Frank J. Was home, 617 Orange avenue, with Mrs. Was and Mrs. Roy Winchester as co-hostesses.

The garden was an inviting retreat whose trees and flowers provided both color and cool charm. Especially interesting was the brick floored pergola where the supper table was arranged, for its bricks spoke eloquently of the famed earthquake days, so sharply contrasted with last night's serenity and gaiety. A nearby garden bench was another eloquent reminder of March 10, for it was a block of red granite from the county courthouse, salvaged by the sons of the Was home, Billy and Frank Jr., and converted into a garden seat as attractive as it was interesting.

A Virginia baked ham supper was served, the final course of food watermelon being reserved upon general request, until the close of the evening. The table, flower strewn and candle-lit, was the scene of animated discussions of subjects literary and general, until far in the evening, when the group returned to the living room of the home to continue a general meeting which was entirely social, as manuscripts were left until the next general session of the club.

There was a short business meeting however conducted by the president, Mrs. J. D. Campbell, during which attention was called to the Community Players second play-writing contest, for which contributions were asked from the club members. This contest is for one-acts and will follow along the general lines of the one held successfully in the early spring. Manuscripts may be turned into Frank Lansdowne.

Quill Pen club members will meet again in two weeks when they will be supper guests of Mrs. J. U. Vian in her home, 325 South Orange street, Orange.

Present last night with the co-hostesses, Mrs. Was and Mrs. Winchester, were Mesdames J. D. Campbell, Maude Goff, Harry M. Smith, S. B. Marshall, C. M. McClintock, Blanche Brown, Marshall Harnock, J. U. Vian, E. Nell Stanley, Emmett Elliott and Miss Lella Watson.

Lions Are Entertained At First of Summer Party Series

When Lions roared last night in dim Santa Ana jungles, it was not in maddened fury nor in search of prey, but in laughter and good spirits induced by the many delightful things planned by their series of informal summer parties.

For Lion club members were accorded an unusually pleasant evening which ranged from a theater party as guests of Victor Walker, to refreshments, dancing and a general joyous time at the Doris Kathryn.

After viewing the current feature films at the Walker State theater, Lions and Lionesses repaired to where they found small tables arranged for the dessert course served by the Lioness club members.

Tables were arranged for four, and each table had its graceful basket of blossoms, while larger baskets were placed about the rooms. At the close of the party, these many blooms were distributed among the merry-makers.

Following the dessert course, the south room was cleared for dancing to Orthophonic Victrola music, while in an adjoining room, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Raitt introduced pingpong, one of the most popular sports of the evening, although a few elected to vary their dancing with bridge. The hostess committee had arranged for some special dance prizes which were won by Mesdames J. H. Dunger, Ralph Raitt and Harold Yost, and Lions Homer Chaney and Joseph Peterson.

Mrs. R. Carson Smith, chairman, Mrs. Victor Walker, assistant posed of Mesdames Ray Adkinson, chairman, and a committee Messrs. Ernest Gould, Floyd Howard, John McCarty, Bruce Monroe, Ralph Raitt, Glenn Tidball, and Harold Yost, planned this enjoyable affair which will be followed by a beach party, a steak bake and some other equally gay cutting in carrying out a program of four informal summer parties to be given by Lion wives.

Friends who planned a surprise Monday night honoring Mr. and Mrs. John W. Mitchell, gave the affair as a postnuptial compliment to the honor guests, whose marriage took place recently. Mrs. Mitchell was Mrs. Virginia May Ory.

The couple's home at 611 Gardfield street was setting for the pleasant evening. During the social time, Mr. Mitchell played old-time violin selections, with Mrs. Mitchell accompanying him. Ice cream and cake provided by the thoughtful guests were served at the close of the affair.

In the group with Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell were Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Kuhl, Miss Margaret Kuhl and Mrs. Nannie Myers.

Adding another party to their list of successful social affairs, members of the Women's Auxiliary to Santa Ana Typographical Union No. 579 entertained last night at the Chicken Shack of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones on the highway between Orange and Anaheim.

Beach Setting Chosen For Miscellaneous Shower

Joining as hostesses at a charming miscellaneous shower for Miss Bernadine Ashen, whose marriage to Walter J. Markel will be an event of late summer, Mesdames J. P. Murphy, E. J. Vosskuhl and W. F. Strain entertained yesterday afternoon at Corona del Mar tavern.

Brightened with a wealth of colorful flowers, the spacious reception room of the clubhouse lent an ideal setting for the afternoon of cards. The rolling waves of the ocean so close at hand proved a welcome background for the summer party.

Bridge was played for a short time, with the result that Mrs. Marion Dodder and Mrs. Arthur Steward scored first and second high, receiving pretty awards.

Guests were invited to the sunroom for a pleasant interval during which refreshments were served at a long T-shaped table. Down its length were clear glass bowls of pink and blue blooms alternating with matching tapers tied with fluffy tulle bows.

Events of the afternoon were climaxed when the lovely young bride-elect was presented with the many packages presented her by the 50 guests in attendance. Tissues and ribbons disposed of, Miss Ashen found that the wrappings had concealed gifts of miscellaneous nature.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

Wee Coppy cried, "I have a plan. We'll fool somebody if we can. The fisherman who dropped that hook thinks he will have some fun. 'I'll bet he'll almost have a fit. If we just jerk the hook a bit.' 'All right,' another Tiny said, 'I'll show you how it's done.'"

Then at the hook the whole bunch looked and Doty said, "Now, don't get hooked. I think it will be safer if we grab the fishing line. 'Let Scouty do it first. He's good! He'll jerk a bit, just as he should. The trick will not be toony, lads, unless it works out fine.'"

The first jerk made the Tines roar, and Duncy yelled, "Pull it some more! The fisherman sure jerked the line. He thought he had bite."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

You don't have to be a baseball player to knock out a fly.

"I'll bet he's thrilled as he can be. Why, say, as long as he can't see what we are doing, he will likely sit up there all night."

"Hey, let me join in on the fun. I'll grab hold of the line and run," said Windy. "Then the man will think he's caught a four-pound trout."

"I'll hang on for a while and then let go, and grab the line again. Gee, wouldn't it be tragic if the man should pull me out?"

"Don't take a chance," cried Duncy. "I know another stunt to try. Perhaps we can find something we can fasten to the hook."

"That's fine," said Doty, with a grin. "The fisherman will pull it in and then he'll get a big surprise. Come, everybody, look!"

Soon Coppy said, "I sadly fear that we'll find nothing 'way down here. I guess that Windy's plan is best. Just grab the line and scoot."

Then Duncy ran right up and said, "Hey, wait! We will use this instead. I found it by a rock. It is a great big rubber boot."

DOWN TO THE BOTTOM OF THE SEA

Lord Kitchener, who went down with the Hampshire. . . . Courtney almost lost his life exploring this wreck.

IF Charles M. Courtney hadn't been fond of jam when he was 10 years old, he might not have grown up to be a world-famous locksmith who goes down to the bottom of the sea on maritime treasure hunts.

"My mother had locked the jam in the cupboard," he reminisces. "The only way I could get it was by fashioning a key of my own. I made one out of wood but it broke in the lock. Then I carved one from an old meat bone and it worked."

Courtney little realized then that his childish escapade was the beginning of a series of incidents that would eventually pin him in a hole 65 fathoms below the surface of the North Sea, break his hand, batter his body, turn his black hair nearly white, and leave him 16 pounds thinner.

The adventurer, who returned to America not long ago, looks upon his deep-sea life as merely a group of jobs. Diving doesn't worry him. Whether or not he'll succeed in opening the safe when he gets there does.

His last hazardous job, which took place on April 24th, didn't yield all of the glittering gold that it was expected to. That wasn't the fault of the diving party but of a sudden undertow that flattened Courtney and his two fellow-divers against the side of the sunken cruiser Hampshire.

Courtney is related to Jules Verne, the author whose imagination penetrated the ocean depths in "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." Verne and Courtney's great-grandmother were brother and sister. Just the same, the locksmith admits he never read the book until after he himself went down to the bottom of his ancestor's sea.

He was reared in a French colony, at Marion, Virginia, learned to swim in the York River, developed a penchant for opening locks, became a machinist, and in 1909 joined the Marines. He was one of the first of the Marines to go to Nicaragua.

IT was there that he received his first diving experience.

"I was with the floating regiment on the U. S. S. Buffalo," he explains. "For four months we stood still in the harbor. The cook fed us on canned goods entirely. Since there were 1500 men on board there were thousands of cans thrown overboard in the narrow harbor."

"When we received the signal to leave, the propeller wouldn't turn. The cans held it pinned down. Volunteer divers, who would go down to release it, were called for. I went. That was my first diving."

As the years passed, Courtney developed his dexterity with a lock. After leaving the Marines he started his own locksmith shop in New York City. He founded the American Association of Master Lockmen.

Meantime, treasure boats rested in oceans and rivers. Salvaging parties, with and without sea manners, went down to find bullion and gems or important papers. Courtney was summoned, in an advisory capacity, several times.

"Opening a safe in water is easier than doing it on land," he says. "There is no fear of injuring the safe or leaving traces under the sea. The thing to do is get it open and remove the contents without injuring them."

Then, in 1930, when he was 40 years old, he began to put the story of his famous imaginative kinsman into practice. He went down to salvage a ship in the Hudson River.

IT was his duty to open the safe. He did. The commission was successful. But there was little adventure to it. Just the putting on of a diving suit, being suspended in water, doing the mechanical trick and coming up.

"My next trip under the sea came in 1932," he says. "It was in Europe. I was assigned to open the safes on the Egypt, a ship that had gone down in the Mediterranean. The sea was calm and the task was easy. We were successful."

And then the grand climax to the other successes presented itself.

The cruiser Hampshire was sunk off the West Orkney Islands on June 5, 1916. Lord Kitchener, secretary of war for Great Britain, who was on board, was drowned. The boat was on its way to Russia. Tales drifted up and down the coasts that it had carried millions of dollars in gold locked up in its hold.

A salvaging organization succeeded in locating the sunken vessel. It wanted a master locksmith to supervise the safe openings. This commission was entrusted to Courtney. He received sealed orders, and sailed away to Kiel, Germany, early in the spring.

There were two other divers who were to descend with him. They studied the blueprints of the Hampshire, examined their aluminum diving suits, and then did nothing while the ship proceeded to the place where the cruiser was sunk.

Courtney didn't know where he was or where the ship was. Only three men on the salvaging vessel did.

He put on his aluminum suit. . . . "I wasn't at all frightened," he says. "I never think about fear. I'm too much interested in opening the safes under the sea. I put on my aluminum suit, and after a 'mud sucker' had cleared the cruiser and its starboard side

Charles Courtney, studying blue prints and diagrams for one of his under-water lock-picking jobs.

One of the hazards of a diver's life, as shown in the Jules Verne book, "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea." . . . Verne, by the way, was a relative of Courtney.

TO PICK A LOCK

had been opened, and the safes and the navigation room had been located by other divers. I went down.

"I was to examine the locks, find out the easiest and quickest way to open them with drills, and direct this work."

"The first trip was easy. I brought up $75,000. The trip was decidedly successful."

"Three days later I went down again. At a distance of 225 feet the sea was pitch black. But we kept going down. There were three of us. We had been so successful that we supposed our luck would last. But we were pinned in a hole by an underwater current."

THE bottom of the ocean is muddy and unpleasant. We couldn't see one another. Only emergency lights were being used for fear of a short circuit. None of us knew what was happening except that we were being flattened against the boat.

"I felt something trickling down my arm and supposed it was water."

Later he found out it was blood. Meantime his aluminum suit was bending over until his body was doubled. Force of the water grew more and more powerful.

"It was just like being struck over and over again with a piece of metal," he recalls.

He tried to signal the salvage ship but his line didn't give the distress message. When the current died down he managed to make the men above understand and they pulled him up. There was a hospital experience then and not until a month later was he able to come home.

"I looked in a mirror one day in the hospital and discovered that my hair was turning gray rapidly," he says. "I also lost 16 pounds as a result of that experience. I'm not able to go down to the sea in a diver's suit now, but when I am I'm going again."

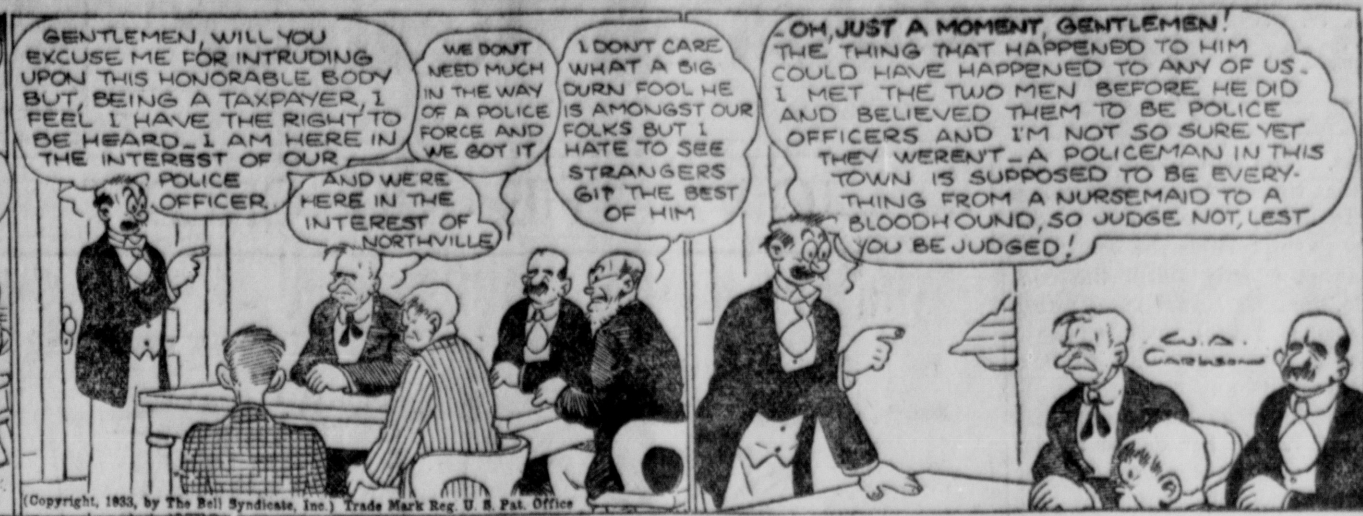

"I enjoy it tremendously. There is a job waiting for me in South America where a ship must be salvaged. There is another one that has been offered to me by a Japanese company which has located the flag ship of the Russian fleet. I'm going to slip into the water again, as soon as I am able, and open the safes and locks on both of those boats."

FOREIGN CLERGYMEN FOR AMERICAN PULPITS

For the fifth time in forty years, the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church of New York has called a minister from the British Empire. Dr. John Hall, Dr. J. H. Jowett, Dr. John Kelman, and Dr. Henry Howard, who died recently, were all from the British Empire.

The question is naturally asked, why is it that this outstanding Presbyterian church in the largest city of this country has carried on this policy? There are those who look upon it as a reflection upon the ministers of this country. It has not been unusual for important churches in this country to have ministers who began their ministry in England or in some other country within the British empire. Dr. Cadman is an Englishman. Dr. Aked, who was called to take the Fifth Avenue Baptist church, the Rockefeller church, was an Englishman. There are many ministers in less noted churches who began their ministry abroad.

With the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church it has become an established policy. The explanation is found in the fact that the English preacher is more given to preaching along theological lines than is the American preacher. The American preacher is a much more practical minister. He feels the currents of social and economic life much more than does the average British preacher. There are those who would say that the English preacher sticks closer to the gospel in his preaching.

There is much to be said for that assertion. The Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church is a very wealthy church. Its leaders prefer the kind of preaching which lets politics and social questions alone. It is conservative in its theological outlook, and there are not many outstanding men in the American ministry who can divorce themselves from the social aspects of the gospel. The fact that this church has established a policy of seeking its ministers abroad does not indicate that the American churches generally are turning in that direction for effective preachers.

It is interesting to note that American preachers who have supplied British pulpits during the summer have usually been admired because of the practical character of their preaching,—the very thing that the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church does not seem to want.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS COOPERATES IN CHINA

It is not generally known that an elaborate scheme for technical advisors to China from the League of Nations has been lost sight of amid more spectacular international events and the general disappointment that the League of Nations' steps in behalf of China, following the Lytton report, were not more pugnacious.

M. Ludwig Rajchman, director of the League's health section has been appointed technical delegate to China responsible for maintaining co-operation between China and the League. A spokesman for the League of Nations says that the League's help will have no national character and "only in so far as it will make China stronger and more difficult to interfere with might it possibly be considered a cause for Japanese concern."

Already the League of Nations Council has sent a number of technical experts from various nations. They have been at work in China for some time but there has been no organized co-operation. M. Ludwig Rajchman's office will serve to furnish information to the committee of the League of Nations to which he is responsible on the functioning of the League's technical organizations and how China can utilize them; to transmit the League requests for collaboration made by the Chinese Government, to assure collaboration with any experts the Chinese may engage, to assist the League's Economic council in co-ordinating the activities of these various experts and to make frequent reports to the League Council and send a detailed report at least every three months. With this machinery established, a more thorough test of the constructive powers of the League of Nations is to be made than followed the Lytton report. It is proceeding along its own lines and after all that is the only way to prove an experiment, namely carrying it on to completion. Nothing can be proved by a half completed experiment except failure. And failure in that case may be due to many causes, one of which is too little faith. Militarism has not triumphed over peace in the Orient. Not yet. Reports have it that Russia is biding her time and turning the other cheek until such time as she is fully prepared to deal with Japan. The League of Nations evidently has another method. Which will triumph? It will be something to watch.

WOMEN VS. MEN ATHLETES

Miss Helen Hicks, noted U. S. woman golfer, has complicated a question which has been disputed for several months, namely, whether the top-notch women could defeat the best men in the various sports.

There has been a great deal of newspaper and magazine publicity given to the thoughts of various stars of golf and tennis, in particular, upon this matter. From past experiences, which were cited, it would appear that the women would get the worst of the competition. It was brought forth that Mrs. Moody was not able to defeat a very high-ranking man tennis player, and that in golf the women had fared in similar manner.

But Miss Hicks has proved that all these conjectures were wrong. For only recently, playing in a championship at Plandome, N. Y., she broke the course record, setting up a new mark of 70 strokes. The best score than had been made up to that time had been 71 strokes, made by Bill Mehlhorn, widely-known golf professional. A few days previous she shot a 72.

While this does not exactly fulfill the conditions of the idea, that is, actual competition between the two sexes, yet it does serve to show that Miss Hicks has the ability to hold her own against practically any man golfer.

"Babe" Didrickson looks as though she has her work cut out for her in her desire to defeat Miss Hicks. If she does carry out her goal, Miss Didrickson certainly should be able to hold aloft the banner of womanhood in this particular sport.

JOYOUS FIGURES

General Hugh S. Johnson estimates that by Labor Day jobs will have been provided for more than five million. The optimistic report is based on the general pick-up and the assurances which have been sent in in response to the President's appeal of Monday night. Furthermore Secretary Perkins reports that more than 500,000 persons obtained employment in June in factories and non-manufacturing industries. Her figures came from the Bureau of Labor Statistics and did not include the employment gains in railroads, farms and other industries. The gain represents a rise of 7 per cent of employment over May and of 14 per cent since the bank holiday in March. The Department of Labor estimated that the increase in employment represented a rise of 29 per cent in purchasing power in the manufacturing industries.

These figures are so joyous that one likes to read them from every angle. Factory employment last month rose 400,000 or 9.2 per cent and payrolls 9.7 per above the June 1932 level. The increase in payrolls in June was 10.8 per cent or about $9,000,000 a week.

For the first time since October, 1929, Secretary Perkins states, the comparative figures show more workers on manufacturing establishment payrolls in the current month than were employed in the corresponding month of the preceding year.

WHERE IT REALLY WAS HOT

It is bad for the summer resort reputation of Big Bear that it reached a record heat yesterday of 110, which was broken by a thunder storm and dropped to 100, but it makes people contented to stay near the cool waters of the Pacific.

Santa Ana's Historic Fete

Long Beach Press-Telegram
Santa Ana has taken hold of an annual celebration which promises to develop into something big, the Fiesta Del Oro, or Festival of Gold. In the heart of the Valencia orange empire, on ground replete with the history of the early Golden Era of the Southland, Santa Ana has undertaken to commemorate the various epochal events and personalities of Orange County history in a three-day celebration which opens Thursday, July 27, and closes Saturday night, July 29.

A pioneer who came to what is now Orange County in a covered wagon in 1849, will lead the opening parade. He has lived in Santiago Canyon, to the east of Santa Ana, for seventy-three years. Central Orange County is replete with early history of this type, of the days when the bandit Murietta ranged this section, when silver was being trucked out of Silverado Canyon by ox team, when Carbonade in Silverado Canyon was a roaring mining town, and when padres and their helpers from the Mission San Juan Capistrano traded with vessels by lowering hides and casks over the cliff of Dana Point and hauling up clothing and necessities brought around The Horn in clipper ships.

Vast herds of cattle roamed the hills of the Santa Ana range and its adjacent plains in those days, and the Sheriff hunt men from an old tree in the heart of what is now Santa Ana.

There is color and romance in the background of Orange County, often known today as the richest little county in the country. Santa Ana's festival, which made its bow on a modest scale last year, promises to develop into something which may truly symbolize the memory of the past and the heroic figures of that time which made the present Orange County possible.

Restored War Trophies New Friendship Move

Sacramento Sun
Soldiers, in modern times as of old, collect souvenirs. During the Boer war, it is said, British Tommies collected family Bibles. Several thousand of them were carried home to Britain, with no consideration of how their rightful owners might feel about it.

Recently the British Quakers have been conducting a campaign for the return of those Bibles. They have located many of them and have induced the possessors to surrender them. Now, after more than a quarter of a century, the original owners or their surviving families are getting back their old Bibles. Doubtless many of the books contain family records of value to those concerned. The Bibles have acquired historical interest, too, by the manner of their going from and returning to South Africa.

The Society of Friends has been going on quietly for some years now, restoring, or inducing others to restore, precious keepsakes which were once regarded as the legitimate spoils of war. The response to these efforts has been generous, indicating that even souvenir-hunters have sympathies and sensibilities which may be touched.

Arcturus Spoofed Us

Oakland Tribune
"Now that it may be told," Arcturus did not open the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition after all. The star which is forty million light years away from the earth and which was to have supplied the light impulse to start the great show, fell down on the job only because clouds got in the way. Something which we call ordinary, though it is wonderful in itself, acted as a substitute. A prosaic light bulb did the trick.

Science knows that Arcturus could have done all that was claimed for it, but science cannot show away the clouds. The fair, which has been attracting record crowds, may consider the opening as auspicious as any and it is not likely any complaints will be filed with the stellar system.

And yet, so much was written about Arcturus, and what it did, so many cartoons were drawn, and speeches made that a public cannot help but feel it has been spoofed.

THE REIGN OF TERROR

The cat is in the maple tree
Upon a lofty limb;
A prudent quadruped is he
Who knows what's good for him.
Uplifted is his bristled hair,
His eyes gleam cold and hard,
And he intends to stay up there
While baby's in the yard.

The pup trots briskly to and fro,
His every sense alert;
No fear is he supposed to know,
But tails, when twisted, hurt.
He lacks astute intelligence
But just the same, he's found
It pays to use one's common sense
When baby is around.

The cook, who matches guile for guile,
Looks with a furtive eye,
In every hiding place, the while
She hangs the clothes to dry,
A prudent colored lady, she—
Too ardently she's toiled
Upon that cloud of lingerie
To see it smudged and soiled.

But when the sun at last has gone,
And pink the twilight glows,
And every flower on the lawn
Is nodding in repose,
There comes a time of calm content,
The turmoil all is past;
The little guileless innocent
Is in his crib at last.

PARAGRAPHS

America recognizing Russia. "Let's see now. I can't seem to place your Sovietism, but your money looks familiar."

Simile: As hard to predict as the outcome of a golf tournament.

Yes, Ethel, you have a perfect right to call tequila "the gulp of Mexico."

Yes, we can tell your fortune. Your highest hopes won't be realized, and your worst fears won't be either. Judging a man's worth by his dollars is especially foolish in these times when nobody knows what a dollar's worth.

ALL THINGS ARE RELATIVE, AND WE CAN REMEMBER WHEN YOUNG PEOPLE WERE WICKED IF THEY HELD HANDS IN THE REAR PEWS.

It's lucky that paragraphs are not allowed to write headlines. Just imagine: "Gold-Bloc-Heads Crave Stayputization of Dollar."

Sample of American humor heard on a street car: "You were lucky to be born, sap! Think of all the people who weren't."

Recent figures show that female church-goers outnumber male ones overwhelmingly. Churchy la femme, huh?

AMERICANISM: Still regarding flyers as heroes; cheerfully flivvering on Sunday despite the usual 2500 casualties.

Any wife will tell you that the favorite tune of husbands is "Of Me I Sing."

"Producer Seeks Title for Detective Play," says a headline. Why not call it "The Clue Clue Clan?"

We never have actually seen the blind leading the blind, but we've often seen 30-handicap golfers giving lessons to beginners.

IT'S HARD TO JUDGE MEN. THAT CLOSE-LIPPED LOOK OF GREATNESS MAY BE ACHIEVED BY PULLING MOST OF THE TEETH.

Sample of American humor heard on a bus: "No, I wouldn't want to kill him, but I'd like to help him commit suicide."

The reason a lot of men don't go to the devil is because they're too lazy. The devil would have to call for them in his car. Optimist: a person who reaches for his hat when the speaker says, "Just one more word and I'll close."

News from the Jan-Chink squabble has been scarce of late. Maybe China is such a big country that the correspondents can't find the war.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "HE'S BEEN TREATING MY CASE FOR TEN YEARS," SAID THE WOMAN, "AND STILL SEEMS KEENLY INTERESTED."

Thoughts On Modern Life

GOOD SERVANTS IN GREAT CRISES

I have been asked to state what seems to me the marks of an able public servant in hours of economic crisis.

In hours of economic crisis, the able public servant will not desert the ship when he sees the chance to make a dollar or two more in private employment.

He will stand by his guns and accept, without whimpering, his just share of whatever sacrifices the times may demand after a sincere socially sensitive statesmanship has given its best to the situation.

He will remember that he is not a mere hired man, but a soldier whose sense of duty ties him tightest to his post when danger is gravest.

He will seek to take advantage of economic stringency to speed up long-matured reforms in his service which he may have found hard to accomplish when funds were more liberally available and colleagues clung with tenacity to vested rights.

If there is any water in his service he will see the depression as a time to dehydrate.

Necessity is not only the mother of invention but may be made the motive power of reform in public services.

He will be a practitioner of constructive economy in the face of economic shortage.

But when he has himself come with clean hands on the issue of constructive economy he will not evade his duty to fight to the last ditch the proponents of destructive economy.

He will not stand idly by and see services vital to the future of state and nation wrecked just so some politician can go back to his constituents and say, "See all the money I saved you!"

He will strike back at those latter-day anarchists who are undermining public confidence in the public service by picturing all public servants as tax-eaters, hogs at the public trough, payrollers, and so on.

He will be proud of his position in the face of insincere criticism.

He will strive to lead rather than follow the crowd.

BE A LITTLE KIND

When Ruby's father and mother died Aunt Hattie took Ruby to rear as her own. That meant a good bit of sacrifice for Miss Hattie lived alone and liked it. She did her very best to mother the child she had taken into her home and everything went well until Ruby was about 14.

Fourteen means a lot of things, unrest strange longings, queer reasoning, rootless purposes and the like. Ruby wanted to wear spiked heels, Miss Hattie said, "But not to school." Ruby stole the shoes out of the house, fell down the school stairs and sprained her ankle and broke one finger bone.

"I don't care," she sobbed. "I wanted to wear what the other girls wear."

"Even if you break your bones?" asked Aunt Hattie.

"Yes, I don't care."

Of course that was all foolishness and quite in order with the mood of Fourteen. Miss Hattie tried to keep the child's yearnings within bounds but the strain grew sharper and sharper. Ruby wanted to go to a dance that was to be given at a roadhouse and would end in the early hours of the morning.

"You can't go. Girls of your age cannot attend such parties. You must be in bed by 10 o'clock. When you are a young lady we'll see about it. You can have all the young people you want in the house. You can have a party here. But not at the roadhouse."

Ruby shed tears by the bucketful but Miss Hattie held firm. Then the young lady packed a suitcase and left home. There was not even a note to say where she had gone and the frantic Miss Hattie called up the neighbors with whose children Ruby had played since babyhood to ask if they had seen the child. Nobody had one, one old lady said in icy tones. "Well, Miss Hattie, I am not surprised. You kept her too strictly. You should have allowed her to go to the party. I let Maribelle go and she is at home in bed and asleep."

In the miserable weeks that followed no neighbor called to comfort Miss Hattie. She encountered uplifted brows and cool questions in plenty but only good Mrs. Collins, the washerwoman, had a kindly word to offer. "Never you mind, Miss Hattie. The day is coming when she will be glad to get back to her good home."

and her good auntie. She knows no better, the poor lamb. May God protect her until she comes home again."

Meanwhile Aunt Hattie searched for her runaway child and the police found her safe and sound in the home of a friend 50 miles away. "Well, we thought as long as she was all right better let her stay until she got over it. It's rather lonely for a child, with just an old lady for companionship."

The whole business was cruel. Miss Hattie had been father and mother and friend to this child who had none but herself. She had done all in her power to teach, to protect, to stimulate goodness. Yet nobody stood by her in the hour of distress.

Be a little kind when your neighbor's child makes a mistake. Your turn is coming for no child has ever yet grown up without bringing sorrow in some form or other to its people. Shield the children who make mistakes but don't forget their suffering guardians and parents. Be a little kind.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, including stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
